CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The Union Legislature

Parliament is where India's laws are made, where the government's money is approved and where ministers must answer for what they do. This chapter takes you through both Houses, the Speaker, the rules of debate and the way a Bill becomes law.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Federal setup
- Lok Sabha
- Parliamentary procedure
- Anti-Defection Law
- Bills
- Speaker
- Rajya Sabha
- Powers of Parliament

The Federal Setup in India

A federation splits governing power between a central government and the governments of the units (states). India's Constitution describes the country as a Union of States. It sets up a federal structure but gives the Centre extra strength, so India is often called a federation with a unitary bias.

FEDERAL FEATURE	HOW INDIA SHOWS IT
Written Constitution	One detailed document that fixes the powers of the Centre and the states
Division of powers	Seventh Schedule: the Union List (defence, foreign affairs, currency, railways), the State List (police, public health, agriculture) and the Concurrent List (education, forests, marriage). On the Concurrent List, a clash is settled in favour of the Union law
Supremacy of the Constitution	Every law, central or state, must obey it
Independent judiciary	The Supreme Court settles disputes between the Centre and the states
Bicameral Parliament	The Rajya Sabha speaks for the states
Rigid amendment	Changes that touch the federal structure need approval from half of the state legislatures as well

SIDEKICK TIP

Quick test for a federation: two governments, one written rulebook, one umpire (the courts). India passes all three.

Parliament at a Glance

The Union Parliament has three parts: the President, the Lok Sabha (House of the People) and the Rajya Sabha (Council of States). The President is a part of Parliament because no Bill becomes law without the President's assent.

The Lok Sabha

POINT	DETAIL
Nature	The lower House. Members are elected directly by the people on the basis of adult franchise (every citizen aged 18 or above)
Strength	The Constitution allows a maximum of 550 members (up to 530 from the states and up to 20 from the Union Territories). At present there are 543 elected members
Term	5 years from its first sitting. The President can dissolve it earlier. During a National Emergency Parliament may extend its life, one year at a time
Qualifications	Citizen of India; at least 25 years old; name in the electoral roll; no office of profit under the government; of sound mind; not an undischarged insolvent
Presiding officer	The Speaker, helped by a Deputy Speaker

BOARD ALERT

The Anglo-Indian seats in the Lok Sabha were abolished by the 104th Amendment (2019). Do not write that two members are nominated to the Lok Sabha.

Parliamentary Procedure

Sessions and quorum

- Parliament meets in sessions: usually the Budget Session (February to May), the Monsoon Session (July to August) and the Winter Session (November to December).
- The President summons and prorogues (ends) a session. The gap between two sessions cannot exceed six months.
- Quorum is the minimum attendance needed to do business: one-tenth of the total membership of the House (55 in the Lok Sabha). If it is missing, the presiding officer adjourns the House.

Question Hour and Zero Hour

The first hour of a sitting is the Question Hour. Members ask ministers about the working of their departments, which makes the executive answerable to the House. Questions are of three kinds.

TYPE	HOW IT IS ANSWERED	KEY FEATURE
Starred question	Orally on the floor of the House	Marked with a star. The member may follow up with supplementary questions
Unstarred question	In writing; the reply is laid on the table of the House	No oral reply and no supplementary questions
Short notice question	Orally	Asked with less than the normal ten days' notice about a matter of urgent public importance

SIDEKICK TIP

Star = Spoken. No star = Written. That one line separates the two kinds.

Zero Hour is the stretch of time right after the Question Hour (around noon) when members raise urgent matters without prior notice. It is not mentioned in the rule book; it grew out of practice.

Adjournment motion and no-confidence motion

	ADJOURNMENT MOTION	NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION
Purpose	To draw the House's attention to a matter of urgent public importance by setting aside the day's business	To test whether the Council of Ministers still has the majority support of the Lok Sabha
Support needed to admit	At least 50 members	At least 50 members
If passed	Amounts to a censure of the government	The government must resign
Can be moved in	Lok Sabha (the Rajya Sabha has no adjournment motion)	Lok Sabha only

REAL LIFE

In 1993 the Narasimha Rao government faced a no-confidence motion and survived with a small margin. In 1999 the Vajpayee government lost one by a single vote and had to resign.

The Anti-Defection Law

Before 1985, legislators often changed parties for rewards, toppling governments. The 52nd Amendment (1985) added the Tenth Schedule to stop this. The Speaker (or Chairman) of the House decides disqualification cases, and the court can review the decision.

- A member who voluntarily gives up the membership of the party that sponsored them is disqualified.
- A member who votes against, or stays away from a vote against, the party's whip without permission is disqualified.
- An independent member who joins a party after being elected is disqualified.
- A nominated member who joins a party after six months of taking the seat is disqualified.
- Exception: if at least two-thirds of a party's legislators agree to merge with another party, nobody is disqualified.

KEY POINT

The law protects the voters' mandate and the stability of governments. The 91st Amendment (2003) removed the older one-third 'split' exception, so only a two-thirds merger now saves a member.

How a Bill Becomes Law

Ordinary Bill

1. Introduction (first reading)
Any member or minister can introduce an ordinary Bill in either House. Only the title and aims are placed before the House.

2. Second reading
A general debate on the principles, then clause-by-clause study, often by a committee, followed by voting on amendments.

3. Third reading
The House votes on the Bill as a whole. A simple majority of members present and voting is enough.

4. Other House
The second House passes the same steps. If the two Houses disagree, or the second House keeps the Bill for over six months, the President can call a joint sitting chaired by the Speaker. The matter is settled by a majority of the members present and voting.

5. President's assent
The President signs it, or returns it once for reconsideration. A Bill passed again must be signed.

Money Bill

A Money Bill deals only with taxes, government borrowing and spending from the Consolidated Fund of India (Article 110). Its journey is much shorter.

- It can be introduced only in the Lok Sabha, and only on the President's recommendation.
- The Speaker decides whether a Bill is a Money Bill, and that decision is final.
- After the Lok Sabha passes it, it goes to the Rajya Sabha, which may only recommend changes within 14 days. The Lok Sabha may accept or reject them.
- If the Rajya Sabha does not return it within 14 days, it is considered passed by both Houses.
- There is no joint sitting for a Money Bill.

	ORDINARY BILL	MONEY BILL
Where introduced	Either House	Lok Sabha only
Rajya Sabha's power	Can pass, amend or reject; delay up to six months	Can only recommend changes within 14 days
Deadlock	Joint sitting	No joint sitting; the Lok Sabha's view prevails
Who decides the category	Not applicable	The Speaker

The Speaker of the Lok Sabha

- Election: chosen by the members of the Lok Sabha from among themselves, soon after a new House meets.
- Term: lasts for the life of the House, but the Speaker stays on after dissolution until the new House meets. The Speaker can resign by writing to the Deputy Speaker.
- Removal: by a resolution passed by a majority of all the then members of the House, after at least 14 days' notice. The Speaker may speak but cannot vote on it in the first instance.
- Functions: presides over sittings and keeps order; decides points of procedure; allows or refuses motions and questions; casts the deciding vote only in a tie; certifies Money Bills; presides over a joint sitting; rules on disqualification under the Anti-Defection Law; protects the rights of members.

KEY POINT

The Speaker is expected to act as a neutral umpire even though elected as a party member. By convention they give up active party politics while in the chair.

The Rajya Sabha

POINT	DETAIL
Nature	The upper House, representing the states and Union Territories
Strength	Maximum 250: up to 238 elected and 12 nominated by the President for knowledge or practical experience in literature, science, art and social service. At present there are 245
Election	Elected members are chosen by the elected members of the State Legislative Assemblies (and of Delhi and Puducherry), by the system of proportional representation through the single transferable vote
Qualifications	Citizen; at least 30 years old; name in an electoral roll; not holding an office of profit; other qualifications as laid down by law
Term	6 years. It is a permanent House and is never dissolved. One-third of the members retire every second year
Presiding officer	The Vice-President is the ex-officio Chairman. The members elect a Deputy Chairman from among themselves

FUN FACT

When the Vice-President presides over the Rajya Sabha, they do not vote, except to break a tie. That is why the Chairman does not belong to any party on the floor.

Powers and Functions of Parliament

POWER	WHAT PARLIAMENT DOES
Legislative	Makes laws on the Union List and the Concurrent List; can also legislate on the State List during an Emergency, if the Rajya Sabha passes a resolution in the national interest, or if states ask it to
Financial	Approves the Budget, taxes and every item of government expenditure; the Public Accounts Committee checks that money was spent as approved
Judicial	Can impeach the President; can remove judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts, the Chief Election Commissioner and the CAG by the prescribed procedure; can punish a person for breach of its privilege
Electoral	Elected members of both Houses take part in electing the President; all members of both Houses elect the Vice-President; each House elects its own presiding officers
Amending the Constitution	Under Article 368. Most amendments need a special majority (two-thirds of members present and voting, and a majority of the total membership of each House). Federal provisions also need ratification by at least half the states
Control over the executive	Question Hour, Zero Hour, adjournment and no-confidence motions, committees, debates on the Budget and the President's address

Exclusive Powers of the Two Houses

LOK SABHA ONLY	RAJYA SABHA ONLY
Introduces Money Bills and has the last word on them	Can authorise Parliament to legislate on a State List subject for the national interest (Article 249) by a two-thirds resolution
The Council of Ministers is responsible to it; only it can pass a no-confidence motion	Can pass a resolution to create a new All-India Service (Article 312)
Alone votes the demands for grants in the Budget	A motion to remove the Vice-President can be introduced only in this House
Can disapprove the proclamation of a National Emergency	Gives continuity, because it is never dissolved

HOT QUESTION

'The Lok Sabha is more powerful than the Rajya Sabha.' Justify this statement with three points.

BOARD ALERT

Do not write that only the Lok Sabha can impeach the President. Charges can be brought in either House.

Timeline: Milestones of the Union Legislature

YEAR	EVENT
1950	The Constitution comes into force and the Union Parliament is established
1952	The first general elections; the first Lok Sabha meets
1985	52nd Amendment adds the Anti-Defection Law (Tenth Schedule)
2003	91st Amendment: only a two-thirds merger is protected
2019	104th Amendment abolishes the nominated Anglo-Indian seats

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Union Parliament = President + Lok Sabha + Rajya Sabha

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Federal setup	Union, State and Concurrent Lists; written Constitution; independent courts; Rajya Sabha
Lok Sabha	550 max (543 now); 5 years; age 25; direct election; Speaker presides
Procedure	Quorum 1/10; Question Hour (starred, unstarred, short notice); Zero Hour; adjournment and no-confidence motions
Anti-Defection	52nd Amendment 1985; Tenth Schedule; 2/3 merger exception
Bills	Ordinary: either House, joint sitting for deadlock. Money: Lok Sabha only, RS 14 days
Speaker	Elected by LS; removed by majority of all members after 14 days' notice; casting vote; certifies Money Bills
Rajya Sabha	250 max (12 nominated); 6 years; age 30; 1/3 retire every 2 years; VP is Chairman
Powers	Legislative, financial, judicial, electoral, amending, control over the executive

Practice Questions

1. What is meant by a federal setup? Name any two features of it found in India.

Ans.

A federal setup divides power between the Centre and the states. In India there is a written Constitution and a division of subjects into the Union, State and Concurrent Lists. The courts also act as the umpire.

2. State the qualifications needed to become a member of the Lok Sabha.

Ans.

The person must be an Indian citizen, at least 25 years old, registered in an electoral roll, of sound mind, not an undischarged insolvent and not holding an office of profit under the government.

3. Distinguish between a starred and an unstarred question.

Ans.

A starred question is answered orally and allows supplementary questions. An unstarred question receives a written reply laid on the table of the House and allows no supplementaries.

4. What is Zero Hour?

Ans.

The period right after the Question Hour in which members raise urgent matters without prior notice. It is a convention, not a rule.

5. What is a no-confidence motion? What happens if it is passed?

Ans.

A motion expressing that the House has lost faith in the Council of Ministers. Only the Lok Sabha can adopt it. If it is passed, the Council of Ministers must resign.

6. Describe the passage of a Money Bill.

Ans.

It is introduced only in the Lok Sabha on the President's recommendation, certified as a Money Bill by the Speaker and passed there. The Rajya Sabha has 14 days to recommend changes, which the Lok Sabha may accept or reject. Then it goes to the President for assent.

7. Mention two functions of the Speaker.

Ans.

Presides over sittings and maintains order; casts the deciding vote in a tie; certifies Money Bills; decides on disqualification under the Anti-Defection Law (any two).

8. Why does the Lok Sabha enjoy more power than the Rajya Sabha in financial matters?

Ans.

Because the people elect it directly and the government is answerable to it. Money Bills begin only there, and the Rajya Sabha can only recommend changes.

9. State two circumstances in which a member of the legislature is disqualified under the Anti-Defection Law.

Ans.

(a) Voluntarily giving up membership of the party that nominated them. (b) Voting or abstaining against the party whip without permission.

10. How is the Constitution amended? Write briefly.

Ans.

A Bill is passed in each House by a majority of the total membership and two-thirds of the members present and voting. If the amendment touches the federal structure, at least half the state legislatures must ratify it. Then the President signs it.

02

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The Union Executive

The Executive turns laws into action. At its head stands a President who, by convention, acts on advice, and a Prime Minister who holds the real power. This chapter shows who they are, how they are chosen and what each can and cannot do.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- The President
- Emergency powers
- The Vice-President
- Prime Minister
- Council of Ministers
- Collective responsibility

The President of India

India has a parliamentary system. The President is the nominal head of state; real executive power rests with the Council of Ministers headed by the Prime Minister.

Qualifications

- A citizen of India.
- At least 35 years of age.
- Qualified to be elected as a member of the Lok Sabha.
- Not holding any office of profit under the government.

Electoral College and indirect election

The President is elected by an Electoral College made up of the elected members of both Houses of Parliament and the elected members of the State Legislative Assemblies (including Delhi and Puducherry). Nominated members and members of Legislative Councils do not vote. Voting is by secret ballot under proportional representation by the single transferable vote.

WHY INDIRECT ELECTION?
A direct election across the whole country would be slow and costly.
The President is a constitutional head, so a vote that gives a national mandate could set up a rival to the Prime Minister.
It lets both the Centre and the states share in choosing the head of the nation.

Term, oath and vacancy

- The President holds office for 5 years and can be re-elected.
- The oath is taken before the Chief Justice of India.
- If the post falls vacant, the Vice-President acts as President, and a new President must be elected within six months.

Impeachment (Article 61)

1. Ground
Violation of the Constitution is the only ground.

2. Notice
Either House can start. At least one-fourth of its members must sign the resolution and give 14 days' notice.

3. First House
The resolution must be passed by a majority of two-thirds of the total membership of the House.

4. Second House
The other House investigates the charges. The President may appear or be represented.

5. Result
If this House also passes it by two-thirds of its total membership, the President is removed from the date of that vote.

Powers of the President

POWER	EXAMPLES
Executive	All executive action is in the President's name. Appoints the Prime Minister and, on the PM's advice, other ministers; the Governors, judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts, the Attorney-General, the Comptroller and Auditor General, the Chief Election Commissioner. Supreme Commander of the armed forces. Appoints ambassadors and receives foreign envoys
Legislative	Summons, prorogues and addresses Parliament; dissolves the Lok Sabha; nominates 12 members to the Rajya Sabha; gives assent to Bills; issues ordinances (Article 123) when Parliament is not in session, which must be approved within six weeks of its reassembly
Financial	Money Bills can be introduced only with the President's recommendation; the Budget is laid before Parliament in the President's name; controls the Contingency Fund of India; appoints the Finance Commission every five years
Judicial	Grants pardon, reprieve, respite, remission and commutation of sentences (Article 72), including a death sentence, and cases by court-martial; may seek the Supreme Court's advice (Article 143)
Discretionary	See below
Emergency	See below

Discretionary powers

These are the situations in which the President uses personal judgement, not the Council's advice.

- Choosing the Prime Minister when no party or alliance has a clear majority in the Lok Sabha.

- Returning an ordinary Bill to Parliament for reconsideration (suspensive veto). A Bill passed again must be signed.
- Pocket veto: keeping a Bill without a decision, as the Constitution sets no time limit.
- Sending advice back once to the Council of Ministers to reconsider. Their repeated advice is then binding (42nd and 44th Amendments).

BOARD ALERT

Do not write that the President can freely overrule the Cabinet. After reconsideration the President must accept the advice.

Emergency powers: two effects of each

EMERGENCY	ARTICLE	IMPOSED WHEN	ANY TWO EFFECTS
National	352	War, external aggression or armed rebellion	1. The Union can give directions to the states on any subject. 2. Parliament can make laws on State List subjects. (Also, the freedoms of Article 19 are suspended during war or external aggression)
State (President's Rule)	356	The constitutional machinery fails in a state	1. The state government is dismissed and the Governor administers on behalf of the President. 2. The state legislature is suspended or dissolved and Parliament makes laws for the state
Financial	360	The financial stability or credit of India is in danger	1. The President may direct states to cut salaries and allowances of their employees. 2. State Money Bills can be reserved for the President's consideration

KEY POINT

A proclamation of National or Financial Emergency lapses unless Parliament approves it within a fixed period (one month for National, two months for the others). President's Rule can last at most three years in steps of six months.

The Vice-President

POINT	DETAIL
Qualifications	Citizen of India; at least 35 years; qualified to be elected to the Rajya Sabha; no office of profit. Must not be a member of Parliament or a state legislature
Election	By an electoral college of all members (elected and nominated) of both Houses of Parliament, by secret ballot under proportional representation
Term	5 years; may be re-elected. Continues until a successor takes charge
Removal	A resolution passed by a majority of all members of the Rajya Sabha and agreed to by the Lok Sabha, after 14 days' notice
Powers	1. Ex-officio Chairman of the Rajya Sabha, with only a casting vote. 2. Acts as President when that post is vacant (up to six months) or when the President is absent or ill

SIDEKICK TIP

The Vice-President gets the salary of the Chairman of the Rajya Sabha. While acting as President, the salary of the President is received instead and the Chairman's duties pass to the Deputy Chairman.

The Prime Minister

- The President appoints the leader of the party or alliance with a majority in the Lok Sabha.
- The PM must be a member of Parliament, or become one within six months.
- The PM stays in office as long as they enjoy the confidence of the Lok Sabha.

The PM is called 'first among equals' (primus inter pares) in the Cabinet, yet in practice is the pivot of the government. Any change in the PM, by resignation or death, dissolves the Council of Ministers.

ROLE	WHAT THE PM DOES
Policy-making	Chairs Cabinet meetings; sets the direction of national and foreign policy
Administrative	Chooses ministers and distributes portfolios; coordinates departments; advises on key appointments
Link	The only channel between the President and the Cabinet; the President must be informed of all decisions
Legislative	Leader of the Lok Sabha; advises the President to summon, prorogue or dissolve the House; guides government Bills
Financial	Directs the framing of the Budget through the Finance Minister
Emergency	Advises the President about proclaiming an Emergency

The Council of Ministers

After appointing the PM, the President appoints the other ministers on the PM's advice. The total size is limited to 15% of the Lok Sabha's strength (91st Amendment, 2003). A minister who is not an MP must become one within six months.

RANK	ROLE
Cabinet Ministers	Heads of major ministries (Home, Defence, Finance, External Affairs); form the Cabinet and make policy
Ministers of State	May be in independent charge of a department or assist a Cabinet Minister; not in the Cabinet
Deputy Ministers	Assist Cabinet or other ministers; no independent power (this rank is now rarely used)

Responsibility

- Collective responsibility (Article 75): the entire Council is answerable to the Lok Sabha. All ministers stand or fall together; they must support each Cabinet decision in public. If a Bill of the government is defeated, or a no-confidence motion is passed, all must resign.
- Individual responsibility: each minister is answerable for their own department and holds office during the President's pleasure, in practice at the PM's will. The PM can ask a minister to resign.

Council of Ministers vs Cabinet

	COUNCIL OF MINISTERS	CABINET
Size	Larger (all three ranks)	Smaller (only Cabinet Ministers)
Meets	Rarely, as one body	Regularly, usually weekly
Role	Carries out policies; formally the executive	Makes policy and takes the decisions
Status	Mentioned in the Constitution (Article 74)	Added to Article 352 by the 44th Amendment

HOT QUESTION

The Prime Minister is sometimes called the 'keystone of the Cabinet arch'. Explain why with three points.

Timeline: The Presidents Who Set Precedents

YEAR	EVENT
1950	Dr Rajendra Prasad becomes the first President (elected for two terms, 1952 and 1957)
1962	Dr S. Radhakrishnan, a philosopher, becomes President
1976	42nd Amendment: the President must act on the Council's advice
1978	44th Amendment: the President may return advice once for reconsideration
2002	Dr A.P.J. Abdul Kalam becomes the 11th President

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Executive = President (head of state) + Council of Ministers led by the Prime Minister (head of government)

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
President	35 years; indirect election; 5 years; impeachment by 2/3 in both Houses (14 days' notice)
Powers	Executive, legislative, financial, judicial, discretionary, emergency (352, 356, 360)
Vice-President	35; elected by both Houses; 5 years; Chairman of Rajya Sabha; removed by RS resolution and LS consent
Prime Minister	Majority leader; first among equals; link with the President; chief policymaker
Council of Ministers	Three ranks; max 15% of the Lok Sabha; collective responsibility to the Lok Sabha
Cabinet	Inner core; decides policy; Cabinet is part of the Council but the Council is larger

Practice Questions

1. State the qualifications required to become the President of India.

Ans.

A citizen of India, at least 35 years old, qualified for election to the Lok Sabha, and not holding any office of profit.

2. Who form the Electoral College for electing the President?

Ans.

The elected members of both Houses of Parliament and the elected members of the State Legislative Assemblies, including those of Delhi and Puducherry.

3. Why is the President elected indirectly?

Ans.

The President is only a nominal head and real power lies with the Prime Minister, so an election by the whole country would be costly and might create a rival to the PM.

4. Describe the procedure for impeaching the President.

Ans.

A charge of violating the Constitution is moved in one House, signed by a quarter of its members with 14 days' notice. It must pass by two-thirds of the total membership. The other House investigates, and if it also passes by two-thirds of its total membership, the President is removed.

5. Mention two judicial powers of the President.

Ans.

Can grant pardon, reprieve, respite, remission or commutation of sentences, including death sentences, and may seek the Supreme Court's opinion on a matter of public importance.

6. Name the three kinds of emergency and give one effect of each.

Ans.

National Emergency (Article 352): Parliament can legislate on State List subjects. President's Rule (Article 356): the state government is dismissed and the Governor rules for the President. Financial Emergency (Article 360): salaries of employees can be reduced.

7. What are the powers and functions of the Vice-President?

Ans.

Acts as ex-officio Chairman of the Rajya Sabha and casts a vote only in a tie. Acts as President when the post is vacant or the President is unable to work.

8. Distinguish between collective and individual responsibility.

Ans.

Collective: the whole Council is answerable to the Lok Sabha and must go if it loses confidence. Individual: each minister answers for their department and may be dropped by the PM.

9. Distinguish between the Council of Ministers and the Cabinet.

Ans.

The Council is the larger body of all ranks of ministers; the Cabinet is the smaller, inner group of senior ministers that actually makes policy and meets often.

10. Explain how the Prime Minister is appointed and what the PM's position is.

Ans.

The President invites the leader of the majority party or alliance in the Lok Sabha. The PM is the head of the government, chairs the Cabinet and acts as the link between the President and the ministers.

03

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The Supreme Court

The Supreme Court is the guardian of the Constitution and of the citizen's rights. This chapter covers who sits on it, how they are chosen and protected, and the many kinds of cases it hears.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Composition
- Qualifications
- Independence
- Jurisdictions
- Judicial review
- Writs

Composition and Seat

The Supreme Court sits at New Delhi. Under Article 124 it consists of the Chief Justice of India and, at present, 33 other judges (34 in all, fixed by a 2019 Act). Parliament can change this number by law.

Qualifications of a Judge

- A citizen of India.
- Has been a judge of a High Court (or of two or more High Courts in succession) for at least 5 years, or
- has been an advocate of a High Court (or courts) for at least 10 years, or
- is, in the President's opinion, a distinguished jurist.

Appointment, Tenure and Removal

- Judges are appointed by the President. In practice a collegium (the Chief Justice and four senior-most judges) recommends names. Parliament's attempt to replace it with a National Judicial Appointments Commission was struck down in 2015.
- The seniormost judge normally becomes the Chief Justice of India.
- A judge retires at 65.
- A judge can be removed only by the President after both Houses pass an address by a special majority (two-thirds of those present and voting, and a majority of the total membership) on grounds of proved misbehaviour or incapacity.

Independence of the Judiciary

A court must decide without fear or favour. The Constitution protects the judges from the pressure of the executive and the legislature.

SAFEGUARD	HOW IT WORKS
Method of appointment	The judiciary has a leading say; judges are not chosen by politicians alone
Security of tenure	Removal is possible only through a difficult impeachment-style process
Fixed salaries	Salaries and allowances are charged on the Consolidated Fund of India and cannot be reduced during the term, except in a Financial Emergency; Parliament does not vote on them
Ban on practice	After retirement, a judge cannot practise before any court in India
Separation of powers	Article 50 directs the state to keep the judiciary separate from the executive
Contempt of court	The Court can punish those who insult or interfere with it
Conduct	Judges' conduct cannot be discussed in Parliament except in a removal motion

Jurisdiction and Functions

JURISDICTION	WHAT IT MEANS	EXAMPLES
Original	Cases that begin in the Supreme Court itself	Disputes between the Centre and a state, or between states (Article 131); petitions for enforcing Fundamental Rights (Article 32)
Appellate	Hears appeals from lower courts	Constitutional cases; civil and criminal cases involving a substantial question of law; special leave to appeal (Article 136)
Advisory	Gives its opinion when the President asks	Article 143: on a question of law or fact of public importance. The opinion is not binding
Revisory	Reviews its own judgment	Article 137: a review petition if an error is spotted
Judicial review	Declares laws or orders void if they violate the Constitution	Overturned several laws on grounds of violating Fundamental Rights
Court of Record	Its records are kept for permanent evidence and can be quoted in any court (Article 129); it can punish for contempt	Judgements form 'case law'

SIDEKICK TIP

Remember O-A-A-R-J-R: Original, Appellate, Advisory, Revisory, Judicial review, Record.

Guardian of Fundamental Rights and the Five Writs

A citizen whose Fundamental Right is violated may move the Supreme Court directly under Article 32. The Court issues writs, which are formal orders.

WRIT	MEANING	USE
Habeas Corpus	'You may have the body'	Orders that a person who is detained be produced before the court, to test whether the detention is lawful
Mandamus	'We command'	Orders a public official or body to perform a duty it has failed to perform
Prohibition	'To forbid'	A higher court orders a lower court or tribunal to stop a proceeding beyond its authority
Certiorari	'To be certified'	Quashes an order already passed by a lower court that exceeded its power
Quo Warranto	'By what authority'	Challenges a person's right to hold a public office

REAL LIFE

The Supreme Court's reading of Article 21 (life and personal liberty) has grown to cover the right to clean environment, free legal aid and a speedy trial.

Judicial Review

In a federal country the Constitution is supreme. If a law passed by Parliament or a state is against it, the Court can strike it down as void. It also protects the division of powers between the Centre and the states.

KEY POINT

Judicial review does not mean the judges make laws. They check whether laws and actions stay within the Constitution.

HOT QUESTION

Is it correct to say that an independent judiciary is essential for protecting democracy? Support your answer with three points.

Timeline: The Supreme Court Through the Years

YEAR	EVENT
1950	The Supreme Court is inaugurated (28 January) with 8 judges
1973	Kesavananda Bharati case: Parliament cannot alter the 'basic structure' of the Constitution
1980s	Public Interest Litigation (PIL) grows, letting anyone approach the court for the poor
2015	NJAC Act struck down; collegium continues
2019	Number of judges increased to 34

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: The Supreme Court = apex court and guardian of the Constitution

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Composition	CJI + 33 judges; seat in New Delhi
Qualifications	Citizen + 5 years HC judge, or 10 years HC advocate, or distinguished jurist
Appointment	President, on collegium recommendation; retire at 65
Independence	Tenure, salary from the Consolidated Fund, ban on practice, separation of powers
Jurisdictions	Original, appellate, advisory, revisory, judicial review, court of record
Rights	Article 32; five writs: Habeas Corpus, Mandamus, Prohibition, Certiorari, Quo Warranto

Practice Questions

1. Name the qualifications required for appointment as a judge of the Supreme Court.

Ans.

Citizen of India who has been a judge of a High Court for five years, or an advocate for ten years, or is a distinguished jurist in the President's opinion.

2. How are the judges of the Supreme Court appointed?

Ans.

By the President, on the recommendation of the collegium headed by the Chief Justice of India and senior-most judges.

3. How can a Supreme Court judge be removed?

Ans.

By the President after an address from both Houses supported by two-thirds of the members present and voting and a majority of the total membership, on the ground of proved misbehaviour or incapacity.

4. Mention any three provisions that secure the independence of the judiciary.

Ans.

Security of tenure, salaries charged on the Consolidated Fund, and a ban on practising in any court after retirement.

5. What is meant by the original jurisdiction of the Supreme Court?

Ans.

Cases that can be filed directly in the Supreme Court, such as disputes between the Union and states or among states, and petitions to enforce Fundamental Rights.

6. Explain the advisory jurisdiction.

Ans.

The President can seek the Supreme Court's opinion on a matter of law or fact of public importance under Article 143. The opinion is advisory and not binding.

7. What is meant by 'Court of Record'?

Ans.

A court whose proceedings and judgements are preserved as records and can be cited as evidence, and which has the power to punish for its own contempt.

8. What is judicial review?

Ans.

The power to examine laws and executive orders and strike them down if they violate the Constitution.

9. Explain the writs of Habeas Corpus and Mandamus.

Ans.

Habeas Corpus asks that a detained person be produced to check the lawfulness of the detention. Mandamus commands a public authority to do its legal duty.

10. How does the Supreme Court protect the Fundamental Rights?

Ans.

Any citizen whose rights are violated can approach it under Article 32, and it can issue writs and orders to enforce the rights.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

High Courts and Subordinate Courts

Most people meet the law in a High Court or in a district court, not in Delhi. This chapter explains how the High Courts are set up, what the lower courts do and how Lok Adalats settle cases quickly and cheaply.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Composition
- Qualifications
- Jurisdiction
- Writs
- Subordinate courts
- Lok Adalats

The High Court

Each state has a High Court (or a group of states shares one, such as Punjab, Haryana and Chandigarh). Article 214 provides for this. It stands at the top of the state's judicial system but is still subject to the Supreme Court.

Composition

- A Chief Justice and as many other judges as the President decides from time to time, depending on the workload.

Qualifications of a judge (Article 217)

- A citizen of India.
- Has held a judicial office in India for at least 10 years, or
- has been an advocate of a High Court for at least 10 years.

Appointment, tenure and removal

- The President appoints judges after consulting the Chief Justice of India, the Governor of the state and the Chief Justice of that High Court.
- Retirement age is 62.
- A judge is removed in the same way as a Supreme Court judge: an address by both Houses of Parliament by special majority, for proved misbehaviour or incapacity.

SIDEKICK TIP

Compare the numbers: SC judge retires at 65, HC judge at 62. SC needs 5 years as a HC judge; HC needs 10 years as an advocate or judicial officer.

Jurisdiction and Functions of a High Court

JURISDICTION	MEANING	EXAMPLE
Original	Cases heard first in the High Court	Matters of admiralty, wills, divorce, company law and election petitions; civil cases of high value in the Calcutta, Bombay, Madras and Delhi High Courts; writ petitions
Appellate	Hears appeals from the district and sessions courts	Civil appeals; criminal appeals; death sentences passed by a Sessions Court must be confirmed by the High Court
Revisory	Can call for records of a subordinate court and correct a legal error	Supervision over all courts and tribunals in the state (Article 227)
Judicial review	Can strike down state laws and executive actions that violate the Constitution	Declares a state law void
Court of Record	Records are kept as evidence; can punish for its contempt (Article 215)	Contempt proceedings
Administrative	Controls the subordinate judiciary	Posts, transfers and discipline of judges below the district level

Writs and Fundamental Rights

Under Article 226 a High Court can issue the same five writs as the Supreme Court: habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, certiorari and quo warranto. The special thing is its reach.

	SUPREME COURT (ARTICLE 32)	HIGH COURT (ARTICLE 226)
Purpose of writ	Only for enforcing Fundamental Rights	For Fundamental Rights and for any other legal right
Area	Whole of India	Within the High Court's territorial limits
Status of right to approach	Itself a Fundamental Right	A constitutional remedy but not a Fundamental Right

KEY POINT

A High Court's writ power is wider than the Supreme Court's, because it can be used for ordinary legal rights too.

Subordinate Courts

Below the High Court come the district and lower courts. They deal with the largest number of cases and are the first stop for most citizens.

1. District Judge
The senior-most judge of a district. Hears civil matters as the District Court and criminal matters as the Sessions Court.

2. Civil Judges
Hear civil cases. Names include Senior Civil Judge, Civil Judge (Junior Division) or Munsif.

3. Magistrates
Hear criminal cases. Metropolitan Magistrates serve in big cities and Judicial Magistrates elsewhere; the Chief Judicial Magistrate heads the rest of the district.

District Court vs Sessions Court

	DISTRICT COURT	SESSIONS COURT
Type of cases	Civil: disputes over property, contracts, marriage, money	Criminal: offences like theft, murder, assault
Head	The District Judge	The same person, called the Sessions Judge
Powers	Hears civil cases and appeals from lower civil courts	Can pass any sentence, but a death sentence needs the High Court's confirmation
Appeal goes to	High Court	High Court

Lok Adalats

'Lok Adalat' means 'people's court'. Set up under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, it settles disputes by compromise between the parties, in the spirit of justice rather than strict law.

- No court fee and no lawyer is required; if a case is already in court, the fee paid is refunded.
- The award is final and binding, like a court decree, and no appeal lies against it.
- Cases are settled quickly, which reduces the pile of pending cases.
- Suited to motor accident claims, bank recovery, family and property disputes and compoundable offences; serious criminal cases are not heard.
- Both sides keep their relationship because there is no winner or loser.

FUN FACT

Permanent Lok Adalats were created in 2002 for disputes over public utility services such as transport, post and telegraph and electricity.

HOT QUESTION

The Supreme Court is the highest court. Why then does the High Court have a wider writ jurisdiction?

Comparison: Supreme Court and High Court

POINT	SUPREME COURT	HIGH COURT
Number	One, for India	One for each state (or a group)
Retirement	65 years	62 years
Qualification	5 years HC judge, 10 years advocate, jurist	10 years judicial office or advocate
Appointment	President, collegium	President, after consulting CJI, Governor and Chief Justice of HC
Writs	Article 32: Fundamental Rights only	Article 226: Fundamental Rights and others

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: State judiciary = High Court at the top, subordinate courts below, Lok Adalats alongside

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
High Court	Chief Justice + judges; retire at 62; 10-year qualification
Appointment	President after consulting CJI, Governor and HC Chief Justice
Jurisdiction	Original, appellate, revisory, judicial review, court of record
Writs	Article 226 covers Fundamental Rights and other legal rights
Subordinate courts	District Judge (civil) and Sessions Judge (criminal); magistrates and civil judges
Lok Adalats	Compromise; free; final award; no appeal; quick

Practice Questions

1. What qualifications are required for the appointment of a High Court judge?

Ans.

A citizen of India who has held a judicial office in India or been a High Court advocate for at least ten years.

2. Who appoints the judges of a High Court?

Ans.

The President, after consulting the Chief Justice of India, the Governor of the state and the Chief Justice of that High Court.

3. Mention two jurisdictions of the High Court and explain one.

Ans.

Original and appellate. Appellate jurisdiction means it hears appeals against decisions of the district and sessions courts.

4. Why is a High Court called a Court of Record?

Ans.

Its proceedings and judgements are kept as a permanent record and can be cited in other courts. It can also punish for contempt of itself.

5. How does Article 226 widen the writ power of a High Court?

Ans.

It lets the High Court issue writs for enforcing any legal right and not just Fundamental Rights.

6. Distinguish between a District Court and a Sessions Court.

Ans.

The District Court hears civil cases, while the Sessions Court hears criminal cases. Both are headed by the same judge. A death sentence by the Sessions Court must be confirmed by the High Court.

7. Who supervises the working of the subordinate courts?

Ans.

The High Court of the state, through its power of superintendence under Article 227.

8. What is a Lok Adalat?

Ans.

A people's court under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 that settles disputes through compromise outside the regular courts.

9. State any three advantages of Lok Adalats.

Ans.

No court fee, quick settlement and a final award with no appeal. They also reduce the burden of pending cases.

10. Compare the age of retirement and qualifications of Supreme Court and High Court judges.

Ans.

A Supreme Court judge retires at 65 and a High Court judge at 62. The Supreme Court needs five years as a High Court judge or ten as an advocate, or a distinguished jurist; the High Court needs ten years as a judicial officer or advocate.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The First War of Independence, 1857

In 1857 a revolt that began with a few regiments swept across north and central India. Learn why it happened, how it unfolded and how it changed British rule for good.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Political causes
- Socio-religious causes
- Economic causes
- Military causes
- Course of the revolt
- Consequences

Why It Matters

The Revolt of 1857 was the largest challenge the East India Company faced. British writers called it the 'Sepoy Mutiny'. Indian nationalists such as V.D. Savarkar called it the First War of Independence, because many ordinary people, peasants and rulers joined the sepoys. The syllabus tests the causes and consequences; the events are for understanding.

Causes: Political

- Doctrine of Lapse (Lord Dalhousie): a state without a natural heir passed to the Company. Satara (1848), Jhansi (1853) and Nagpur (1854) were taken over this way.
- Annexation of Awadh (1856) on a charge of misgovernment. Thousands of nobles, soldiers and officials lost their jobs.
- Treatment of titles and pensions: Dalhousie refused to continue the pension of Nana Sahib, the adopted son of the last Peshwa, and announced that Bahadur Shah Zafar's successors would lose the title of king and the Red Fort.
- The Company's growing rule made Indian rulers feel unsafe and insulted.

Causes: Socio-Religious

- Christian missionaries were active, and many Indians feared a plan for mass conversion.
- Laws such as the Religious Disabilities Act, 1850 allowed a convert to keep inherited property, which seemed to reward conversion.
- Reforms such as the ban on sati (1829) and the Widow Remarriage Act (1856) were seen by many orthodox people as interference in their customs.
- Western education and new technology like railways and the telegraph raised doubts about caste purity and tradition.

Causes: Economic

- Heavy land revenue demands ruined peasants, who lost land to moneylenders.
- Taluqdars of Awadh lost estates after the annexation. Rent-free lands (inam) were taken by the Inam Commission.
- Cheap British factory goods destroyed Indian handicrafts, throwing artisans out of work.
- The wealth of India flowed to Britain, and Indians were kept out of higher posts.

Causes: Military

- Indian soldiers were paid less and promoted less than their British colleagues. No Indian could rise above the rank of subedar.
- The General Service Enlistment Act (1856) required sepoys to serve overseas, which high-caste Hindus believed would break caste by crossing the sea.

- Sepoys resented the loss of extra pay (batta) in newly annexed territories.
- The immediate cause: the new Enfield rifle, whose cartridge had to be bitten open. A rumour said it was greased with cow and pig fat, offending both Hindu and Muslim sepoys.

SIDEKICK TIP

P-S-E-M: Political, Socio-religious, Economic, Military. Give each group one strong example and you cover most answers.

Course of the Revolt

DATE	PLACE	EVENT AND LEADERS
29 March 1857	Barrackpore	Mangal Pandey of the 34th Native Infantry attacked British officers; he was hanged in April
10 May 1857	Meerut	Sepoys revolted, freed their jailed comrades and marched to Delhi
11 May 1857	Delhi	Declared Bahadur Shah Zafar the Emperor of Hindustan. Delhi was recaptured by the British in September 1857; Zafar was exiled to Rangoon
June 1857	Kanpur	Nana Sahib, helped by Tatya Tope
June 1857	Lucknow	Begum Hazrat Mahal led the revolt in the name of her son
1857-58	Jhansi	Rani Lakshmibai; she died fighting near Gwalior in June 1858
1857-58	Bihar	Kunwar Singh of Jagdishpur, who led at the age of about eighty
1857-58	Bareilly	Khan Bahadur Khan

FUN FACT

Rani Lakshmibai of Jhansi is said to have fought with her infant son strapped to her back. British general Hugh Rose called her 'the best and bravest' of the rebel leaders.

Why the Revolt Failed

- It had no single leader and no common plan; the revolt remained local.
- It did not spread to all of India. Punjab, Bengal, Hyderabad, the Sikhs and the Gurkhas stayed loyal or neutral.
- Many rulers and big landlords did not join and some helped the British.
- The rebels had poor arms and little discipline; the British had better weapons, the telegraph and the railways.
- Britain brought reinforcements after the end of the Crimean War.

ASPECT	CHANGE
Administration	The Government of India Act, 1858 ended the Company's rule and transferred India to the British Crown. A Secretary of State for India with a council of 15 would govern from London. The Governor-General became the Viceroy; Lord Canning was the first
Queen Victoria's Proclamation (1 November 1858)	Read at Allahabad. It promised no more annexation of Indian states, respect for the rights and customs of the people, religious tolerance, and equal admission to government service irrespective of caste, creed or race, according to ability. It also offered a pardon to rebels who had not murdered British subjects
Relations with princely states	The Doctrine of Lapse was abandoned. The rulers were guaranteed the right to adopt heirs and their treaties were respected. In return the princes had to accept the Crown's supremacy. They became its loyal allies
Changes in the army	The number of European troops was increased. The ratio of Europeans to Indians became 1:2 in the Bengal army and 2:5 in Madras and Bombay. Artillery and key posts were handled only by Europeans. Regiments were mixed by caste and region to prevent unity; the policy of favouring so-called 'martial races' such as Sikhs, Gurkhas and Punjabis began
Overall policy	Britain began a deliberate policy of divide and rule between Hindus and Muslims

KEY POINT

The Proclamation promised equality, but in practice senior posts stayed closed to Indians. The gap between promise and practice fuelled Indian nationalism.

BOARD ALERT

Do not call 1857 a revolt only of sepoys. Peasants, artisans, and some rulers joined too. Also do not write that the Company was ended in 1857; it ended in 1858.

HOT QUESTION

'The Revolt of 1857 began as a mutiny but turned into a popular uprising.' Do you agree? Give reasons.

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1848-54	Satara, Jhansi and Nagpur annexed under the Doctrine of Lapse
1856	Awadh annexed; General Service Enlistment Act
1857	Revolt breaks out (March to May); Delhi falls in September
1858	Government of India Act; Proclamation of 1 November; Rani of Jhansi dies
1859	Tatya Tope captured and executed; revolt ends

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Revolt of 1857 = revolt of the sepoys + the unhappy rulers, peasants and artisans

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Political	Doctrine of Lapse; Awadh; Nana Sahib's pension
Socio-religious	Missionaries; sati ban, Widow Remarriage Act; Religious Disabilities Act
Economic	Land revenue; ruined artisans; taluqdars
Military	Low pay; overseas service; greased cartridges
Leaders	Bahadur Shah, Nana Sahib, Tatya Tope, Rani Lakshmibai, Hazrat Mahal, Kunwar Singh
Consequences	Crown rule 1858; Queen's Proclamation; princes protected; army reorganised

Practice Questions

1. State any two political causes of the Revolt of 1857.

Ans.

The Doctrine of Lapse, which took Satara, Jhansi and Nagpur, and the annexation of Awadh in 1856 on grounds of misgovernment.

2. How did the Enfield rifle become the immediate cause of the revolt?

Ans.

The cartridge had to be bitten, and a rumour spread that it was greased with the fat of cows and pigs, which offended Hindu and Muslim sepoys.

3. Mention two economic causes.

Ans.

Heavy land revenue and the ruin of Indian handicrafts due to cheap British goods.

4. Why did sepoys dislike the General Service Enlistment Act?

Ans.

It compelled them to serve overseas, and many high-caste Hindus believed crossing the sea would cost them their caste.

5. Name the leaders of the revolt at Kanpur, Lucknow and Jhansi.

Ans.

Nana Sahib (with Tatya Tope), Begum Hazrat Mahal and Rani Lakshmibai.

6. Give any two reasons why the revolt failed.

Ans.

It had no common leadership and plan, and it did not spread to all regions; the rebels also lacked weapons and discipline.

7. What changes in administration followed the revolt?

Ans.

The Company's rule ended by the Government of India Act, 1858. India was ruled by the Crown through a Secretary of State and a Viceroy.

8. What were the main promises of Queen Victoria's Proclamation?

Ans.

No more annexation of princely states, respect for religion and customs, and equal opportunity in government service.

9. How did the British change relations with the princely states?

Ans.

They gave up the Doctrine of Lapse, accepted the right to adopt heirs and honoured treaties, in return for the princes' loyalty to the Crown.

10. What changes were made in the army after 1857?

Ans.

European soldiers were increased, key branches like artillery were handed to them, and Indian regiments were mixed on caste and regional lines.

06

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Growth of Nationalism

Nationalism did not appear overnight. Economic suffering, harsh laws, reformers and newspapers slowly made Indians think of themselves as one people. In 1885 that feeling found a platform: the Indian National Congress.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Economic exploitation
- Repressive policies
- Social reformers
- The Press
- Foundation of the Congress

Factors Behind the Rise of Nationalism

1. Economic exploitation

- Cheap factory goods from Britain flooded Indian markets, and Indian textiles and crafts declined (de-industrialisation).
- India became a source of raw materials, such as cotton and indigo, and a market for finished goods. Import duties on British cloth were removed while Indian goods were taxed.
- Dadabhai Naoroji explained the Drain of Wealth: part of India's income went to Britain each year as salaries, pensions, profits and interest, with no return.
- Land revenue pressed on peasants. Famines in the late 1870s and 1890s killed millions, while relief was meagre.
- Railways were built mainly to move raw materials and troops, not to help Indians.

2. Repressive colonial policies

- Vernacular Press Act, 1878 (Lord Lytton) gagged newspapers in Indian languages. It was repealed in 1882 by Lord Ripon.
- Arms Act, 1878: Indians could not keep weapons without a licence.
- The Ilbert Bill (1883) would have allowed Indian judges to try Europeans. Strong protest by Europeans forced the government to dilute it. It proved that the British believed in racial privilege.
- The maximum age for the Indian Civil Service examination was lowered to 19 in 1876, closing the door to Indians.
- Lytton held a grand Delhi Durbar in 1877 while a famine raged.

Socio-Religious Reform Movements

Reformers cleaned out evil customs and revived self-respect. They gave Indians a shared cultural pride, which is the base of nationalism.

REFORMER	ORGANISATION	ANY TWO CONTRIBUTIONS
Raja Rammohan Roy (1772-1833)	Brahmo Samaj (1828)	1. Campaigned against sati; the practice was banned by Lord William Bentinck in 1829. 2. Promoted modern English education, opposed idol worship, child marriage and the caste system. 3. Fought for freedom of the press, and published Sambad Kaumudi and Mirat-ul-Akhbar
Jyotiba Phule (1827-90)	Satyashodhak Samaj (1873)	1. Opened a school for girls at Pune in 1848 with his wife Savitribai Phule. 2. Fought for the rights of the lower castes and the so-called untouchables and wrote Gulamgiri. 3. Supported widow remarriage and founded a home for widows and orphans
Swami Dayananda Saraswati (1824-83)	Arya Samaj (1875, Bombay)	1. Gave the call 'Back to the Vedas' and wrote Satyarth Prakash. 2. Opposed idol worship, child marriage and caste by birth; supported widow remarriage and education of women. 3. Started shuddhi (reconversion) and DAV schools
Swami Vivekananda (1863-1902)	Ramakrishna Mission (1897)	1. Presented Hinduism at the Parliament of the World's Religions, Chicago, 1893. 2. Stressed service of the poor as service to God, and promoted education, and national pride. 3. Condemned untouchability and superstition

Dates to remember: 1828 Brahmo, 1873 Satyashodhak, 1875 Arya, 1897 Ramakrishna Mission. Roy and Phule: girl's education and anti-caste; Dayananda: Vedas; Vivekananda: service and Chicago.

REAL LIFE

Today's DAV schools and colleges, and the Ramakrishna Mission hospitals and schools, still carry on what these reformers began.

Role of the Press

- Newspapers spread news, ideas of freedom and criticism of British policy across India, linking people from different regions.
- English papers: The Hindu (1878), Amrita Bazar Patrika, The Bengalee (Surendranath Banerjee), The Mahratta (Tilak).
- Indian language papers: Kesari (Marathi, Tilak), Sambad Kaumudi (Bengali, Roy), Bande Mataram.
- Many editors were jailed, yet the Press continued to be an important weapon of the nationalists.

Foundation of the Indian National Congress

POINT	DETAIL
Year and place	1885, Bombay (28 December, at Gokuldas Tejpal Sanskrit College)
Founder	A.O. Hume, a retired British civil servant, with the support of Indian leaders such as Dadabhai Naoroji
First session	72 delegates; W.C. Bonnerjee was the first president
Second session	Calcutta, 1886: Dadabhai Naoroji presided
Third session	Madras, 1887: Badruddin Tyabji, the first Muslim president

Immediate objectives

- To bring together nationalists from all parts of India and to build a sense of unity beyond religion, caste and region.
- To place the people's demands before the government and to train public opinion.
- To demand more Indians in the Legislative Councils and the Civil Service, and the holding of ICS examinations in India as well as in London.
- To demand reduction in military expenditure and the holding of an inquiry into the Indian administration.

KEY POINT

The Congress at first wanted reforms through discussion. It did not demand independence. Its leaders were called the Moderates and later the Early Nationalists.

BOARD ALERT

The Congress was founded by A.O. Hume in 1885 and not by Gandhi or Nehru. Its first president was W.C. Bonnerjee, not Naoroji.

HOT QUESTION

Why is it said that the British repressive policies helped to unite Indians against them?

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1828	Brahmo Samaj founded
1873	Satyashodhak Samaj
1875	Arya Samaj
1878	Vernacular Press Act; Arms Act
1883	Ilbert Bill controversy
1885	Indian National Congress
1893	Vivekananda in Chicago
1897	Ramakrishna Mission

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Nationalism = shared suffering + shared pride + shared platform

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Economic	Drain of wealth; de-industrialisation; famines
Repression	Vernacular Press Act, Arms Act, Ilbert Bill, ICS age
Reformers	Roy, Phule, Dayananda, Vivekananda
Press	Hindu, Amrita Bazar Patrika, Kesari, Bengalee
Congress 1885	Hume; Bombay; 72 delegates; Bonnerjee; second: Naoroji, Calcutta

Practice Questions

1. Explain the drain of wealth.

Ans.

It is the steady outflow of India's wealth to Britain in the form of salaries, pensions, profits and interest on debts, without any return benefit to India.

2. Why was the Vernacular Press Act passed?

Ans.

Lord Lytton introduced it in 1878 to stop Indian language newspapers from criticising the government.

3. Mention two contributions of Raja Rammohan Roy.

Ans.

He campaigned against sati, which was banned in 1829, and promoted modern education and a free Press.

4. State two contributions of Jyotiba Phule.

Ans.

He opened a school for girls in Pune in 1848 and worked for the upliftment of the lower castes through the Satyashodhak Samaj.

5. What were the aims of Dayananda Saraswati's Arya Samaj?

Ans.

To bring back the teachings of the Vedas, to oppose idol worship, child marriage and caste by birth, and to promote education.

6. Mention two contributions of Swami Vivekananda.

Ans.

He addressed the Parliament of Religions in Chicago in 1893, and he founded the Ramakrishna Mission in 1897 to serve the poor.

7. How did the Press help the national movement?

Ans.

It spread ideas of freedom, exposed British policies and created a feeling of unity among Indians.

8. When and by whom was the Indian National Congress founded?

Ans.

In 1885, by A.O. Hume, a retired British officer, with the help of Indian leaders.

9. Name the presidents of the first two sessions of the Congress.

Ans.

W.C. Bonnerjee (Bombay, 1885) and Dadabhai Naoroji (Calcutta, 1886).

10. State any two immediate objectives of the Congress.

Ans.

To unite nationalists across India and to place people's demands before the government, such as more Indians in the councils and in the services.

07

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

First Phase of the National Movement (1885-1907)

For its first twenty years the Congress was led by moderate, careful men who believed in petitions and persuasion. Meet the Early Nationalists, their goals, their methods and three of their great leaders.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Early Nationalists
- Objectives
- Methods
- Dadabhai Naoroji
- S. Banerjee
- G.K. Gokhale
- Evaluation

Who Were the Early Nationalists?

From 1885 to 1905 the Congress was guided by Moderates such as Naoroji, Surendranath Banerjee, Gokhale, Pherozeshah Mehta and W.C. Bonnerjee. They were mostly lawyers, teachers and journalists educated in the English tradition. They believed British rule had given India some benefits (law and order, modern education), and the real task was to reform it, not end it.

Objectives

- Constitutional reforms: bigger and more representative Legislative Councils, with elected Indians.
- Greater share in administration: simultaneous ICS exams in India and England and Indianisation of services.
- Economic reforms: end the drain of wealth; reduce land revenue and military spending; protect Indian industry.
- Civil rights: freedom of speech, the press and association.
- To build a sense of Indian unity and political awareness.

Methods: the Three Ps

1. Petitions
Written requests to the government about problems.

2. Prayers
Polite appeals for justice, mostly in the form of resolutions and memoranda.

3. Protests
Peaceful public meetings, speeches and press campaigns, with delegations sent to England to educate British opinion.

They avoided strikes and boycotts because they believed in peaceful, constitutional methods and the British sense of fair play.

Three Great Leaders

LEADER	ANY TWO CONTRIBUTIONS
Dadabhai Naoroji (1825-1917), 'Grand Old Man of India'	1. Explained the drain of wealth in his book Poverty and Un-British Rule in India. 2. Founded the East India Association in London (1866) to inform British opinion. 3. Became the first Indian elected to the British House of Commons (1892). Three times President of the Congress (1886, 1893, 1906); in 1906 he used the word Swaraj as the goal
Surendranath Banerjee (1848-1925), 'Rashtraguru'	1. Founded the Indian Association (1876) in Calcutta, a forerunner of the Congress. 2. Edited the paper The Bengalee, was jailed for contempt of court in 1883, the first Indian leader to be punished for his writing. 3. Protested against the lowering of the ICS age and led the Swadeshi movement against the partition of Bengal. Presided over the Congress in 1895 and 1902
Gopal Krishna Gokhale (1866-1915)	1. Founded the Servants of India Society (1905) to train workers for national service. 2. As a member of the Imperial Legislative Council, he made the budget speeches that exposed excessive military spending and taxation. 3. Gave valuable help in framing the Morley-Minto reforms; he presided over the Congress at Benares in 1905. He was Gandhi's political guide

SIDEKICK TIP

Link each leader to one book / paper / organisation: Naoroji: Poverty and Un-British Rule; Banerjee: The Bengalee; Gokhale: Servants of India Society.

FUN FACT

Gokhale was admired by both Mahatma Gandhi and Muhammad Ali Jinnah. Gandhi called him his 'political guru'.

Achievements of the Moderates

- They spread political awareness and a feeling of Indian unity through the Congress sessions.
- The Indian Councils Act, 1892 increased the number of non-official members and allowed some indirect election and the right to discuss the budget. It was a small step.
- They exposed the economic nature of British rule, which became the base of later criticism.
- They trained the next generation of national leaders.

Limitations

- The movement was limited to the educated middle classes. The masses were left out.
- The British paid little attention to the 'beggars' prayer'. The Indian Councils Act of 1892 satisfied nobody.
- Young leaders felt that petitions were too slow, which led to the rise of the Assertive Nationalists.

HOT QUESTION

Why were the methods of the Early Nationalists called 'political mendicancy' by the younger leaders? Do you agree?

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1866	Naoroji founds the East India Association
1876	Indian Association (Surendranath Banerjee)
1885	Indian National Congress is founded
1892	Indian Councils Act; Naoroji enters the House of Commons
1905	Gokhale founds the Servants of India Society

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Early Nationalists = Moderates: reform within British rule by peaceful, constitutional means

Leaders	Naoroji, S.N. Banerjee, Gokhale, Mehta, Bonnerjee
Objectives	Wider councils; ICS exams in India; economic reform; civil rights
Methods	Petitions, prayers, protests; delegations; press
Gains	Awareness, Act of 1892
Weaknesses	Elite base; no mass support; slow results

Practice Questions

1. Who were the Early Nationalists?

Ans.

The Moderate leaders of the Congress between 1885 and 1905, such as Naoroji, Banerjee and Gokhale, who sought reform through constitutional means.

2. State any two objectives of the Early Nationalists.

Ans.

To expand Indian representation in the Legislative Councils and to hold ICS examinations in India (any two from the list).

3. What were their methods of struggle?

Ans.

Petitions, prayers and protests: peaceful appeals, public meetings, memoranda, the press and delegations to England.

4. Mention two contributions of Dadabhai Naoroji.

Ans.

He wrote on the drain of wealth in Poverty and Un-British Rule in India and founded the East India Association in London.

5. Why is Surendranath Banerjee called 'Rashtraguru'?

Ans.

For his teaching of politics and nationalism, his journalism and his leadership in Bengal.

6. What was the Servants of India Society?

Ans.

An organisation founded by Gokhale in 1905 to train selfless workers for public service.

7. Mention one achievement of the Moderates.

Ans.

The Indian Councils Act of 1892, which gave the councils some more power.

8. State two weaknesses of the Early Nationalists.

Ans.

Their base was narrow, limited to educated classes, and the British ignored their petitions.

9. Who was elected to the British House of Commons in 1892?

Ans.

Dadabhai Naoroji.

10. In what way did Gokhale influence Gandhi?

Ans.

Gokhale guided Gandhi on Indian politics and public service after his return from South Africa, and Gandhi regarded him as his political guru.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Second Phase of the National Movement (1905-1916)

Partition of Bengal in 1905 set the country on fire. A new, bolder group of leaders replaced prayer with protest, the Congress split at Surat, the Muslim League was born and a surprising pact was signed at Lucknow.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Partition of Bengal
- Swadeshi
- Surat split
- Assertive Nationalists
- Muslim League
- Lucknow Pact

The Partition of Bengal (1905)

Lord Curzon announced it in July 1905 and it came into force on 16 October 1905. Bengal, with about 78 million people, was cut into East Bengal and Assam (Muslim majority, capital Dhaka) and West Bengal (with Bihar and Orissa).

OFFICIAL REASON	NATIONALIST VIEW
Bengal was too large to administer well.	A plan to divide and rule: split Hindus from Muslims, weaken the national movement centred in Calcutta and reduce the influence of Bengali-speaking educated people.

Reaction: Swadeshi and Boycott

- 16 October was observed as a day of mourning, with fasting and Rakhi Bandhan as a symbol of unity.
- Boycott of British goods, and Swadeshi (use of Indian goods) spread all over India.
- National education: Bengal National College and national schools were opened. Rabindranath Tagore composed Amar Sonar Bangla.
- The Calcutta Congress (1906) under Naoroji declared four aims: Swaraj, Swadeshi, Boycott and National Education.

KEY POINT

The Partition was annulled in 1911. King George V announced it at the Delhi Durbar, along with shifting the capital from Calcutta to Delhi.

The Surat Split, 1907

At Surat in December 1907, the Congress broke into two camps, the Moderates and the Extremists.

- Dispute over the President: Extremists wanted Lala Lajpat Rai or Tilak. Moderates wanted Rash Behari Ghosh, and he was elected.
- Dispute over the 1906 resolutions: Moderates did not want to endorse Swaraj, Swadeshi, Boycott and National Education, and the session was shifted from Nagpur to Surat to avoid Tilak's strong base.
- Differences in methods: Moderates favoured petitions, while Extremists wanted boycott, passive resistance and mass action.
- The meeting ended in chaos, and the Congress was divided until 1916. The British exploited the break.

The Assertive Nationalists (Extremists)

POINT	MODERATES	ASSERTIVE NATIONALISTS
Leaders	Naoroji, Gokhale, Mehta, S. Banerjee	Tilak, Bipin Chandra Pal, Lajpat Rai (Lal-Bal-Pal), Aurobindo Ghosh
Goal	Reform of the system; self-government under the British	Swaraj as a birthright
Methods	Petitions, prayers, protests	Boycott, Swadeshi, passive resistance, national education, mass appeal and (for some) militancy
Faith in the British	Considerable	Little; relied on self-reliance
Base	Educated elite	Wider middle class and the youth

Any two contributions of each leader

LEADER	CONTRIBUTION
Bal Gangadhar Tilak (1856-1920)	1. Declared: 'Swaraj is my birthright and I shall have it'. 2. Edited Kesari (Marathi) and Mahratta (English). 3. Started the Ganesh and Shivaji festivals to unite people. 4. Jailed for sedition and sent to Mandalay for six years (1908); started the Home Rule League (1916)
Bipin Chandra Pal (1858-1932)	1. Promoted Swadeshi and Boycott and was a fiery orator. 2. Founded the English weekly New India and Bande Mataram. 3. Worked for national education and social reform
Lala Lajpat Rai (1865-1928), 'Punjab Kesari'	1. Led the movement in Punjab and was deported to Mandalay in 1907. 2. Active in the Arya Samaj, and founded the DAV movement and Punjab National Bank. 3. Led a protest against the Simon Commission in 1928 and died after being struck by police lathis

SIDEKICK TIP

Lal-Bal-Pal: Lala Lajpat Rai (Punjab), Bal Gangadhar Tilak (Maharashtra), Bipin Chandra Pal (Bengal). One state each: Punjab, Maharashtra, Bengal.

Formation of the Muslim League (1906)

POINT	DETAIL
Year and place	30 December 1906, at Dhaka (Dacca), under Nawab Salimullah and with Aga Khan as the leader
Factors	1. British policy of divide and rule and Lord Curzon's partition. 2. A fear among some Muslims that the Congress represented the Hindu majority, and a feeling of backwardness in education and jobs. 3. The Simla Deputation (October 1906) led by the Aga Khan to Viceroy Minto, asking for separate electorates. 4. The rise of Hindu revivalism in the Extremist wing
Objectives	1. To promote loyalty to the British government among Muslims. 2. To protect the political rights and interests of Muslims. 3. To keep Muslims from feeling hostile towards other communities

The Morley-Minto reforms (Indian Councils Act, 1909) accepted a separate electorate for Muslims. It planted the seed of communal politics.

The Lucknow Pact, 1916

- Signatories: the Indian National Congress (session presided by Ambika Charan Majumdar) and the Muslim League (led by Muhammad Ali Jinnah). Tilak and Jinnah were the key figures; Annie Besant also helped.
- Terms: the Congress accepted separate electorates for Muslims. Both agreed on a fixed share of seats for Muslims in the provincial councils and joined in demanding self-government for India.

Impact

- It was the high point of Hindu-Muslim unity. The Moderates and the Extremists were united again in the Congress.
- The British were forced to take Indian demands seriously, leading to the 1917 announcement about 'responsible government'.
- However, the acceptance of separate electorates by the Congress strengthened communal politics, and made partition easier later.

FUN FACT

In 1916 Tilak and Annie Besant founded separate Home Rule Leagues (April in Pune, September in Madras) to demand self-government. Their slogan made Indians think of India as a self-governing nation.

BOARD ALERT

The Muslim League was formed in 1906, not in 1905, and at Dhaka, not Lahore or Karachi. The Lucknow Pact came in 1916.

HOT QUESTION

Was the Partition of Bengal a blessing in disguise for the national movement? Argue both sides briefly.

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1905	Partition of Bengal; Swadeshi movement
1906	Muslim League; Calcutta Congress declares Swaraj
1907	Surat Split
1909	Morley-Minto reforms
1911	Partition annulled; capital to Delhi
1916	Lucknow Pact; Home Rule Leagues

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Second Phase = Assertive Nationalism sparked by the Partition

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Partition	Curzon, 16 Oct 1905; divide and rule; annulled 1911
Swadeshi	Boycott, national education, Rakhi, Swaraj at Calcutta 1906
Surat 1907	Split: President, resolutions, methods; Rash Behari Ghosh
Lal-Bal-Pal	Lajpat Rai, Tilak, Pal; Swaraj is my birthright
Muslim League	1906 Dhaka; Salimullah, Aga Khan; loyalty to British, rights; separate electorates 1909
Lucknow 1916	Congress + League; separate electorates; self-government demand; unity

Practice Questions

1. Why did Lord Curzon partition Bengal in 1905? What did the nationalists think?

Ans.

Officially it was for convenience in governing a very big province. The nationalists saw it as a plan to divide Hindus and Muslims and weaken the national movement.

2. What was the Swadeshi movement?

Ans.

The movement to boycott foreign goods and use Indian-made goods, to build self-reliance in response to the Partition.

3. State two reasons for the Surat Split of 1907.

Ans.

A dispute over the choice of President and a disagreement over the resolutions on Swadeshi, Boycott and Swaraj.

4. What was the aim of the Assertive Nationalists?

Ans.

Swaraj, or self-rule, to be won by boycott, Swadeshi, national education and passive resistance.

5. Mention two contributions of Bal Gangadhar Tilak.

Ans.

He gave the slogan 'Swaraj is my birthright' and edited Kesari and Mahratta; he also began the Ganesh and Shivaji festivals.

6. Mention two contributions of Lala Lajpat Rai.

Ans.

Led the national movement in Punjab and was a founder of the Punjab National Bank; died after police lathi charge at the Simon Commission protest.

7. What contribution did Bipin Chandra Pal make?

Ans.

He popularised Swadeshi and Boycott through his speeches and his journals, such as New India.

8. When was the Muslim League formed? State two factors.

Ans.

In 1906. The factors included the divide and rule policy and the desire of some Muslims for separate representation.

9. What were the objectives of the Muslim League?

Ans.

To promote loyalty to the British government, to protect the political rights of Muslims and to prevent hostility to other communities.

10. What was the Lucknow Pact? State its impact.

Ans.

An agreement in 1916 between the Congress and the Muslim League. It brought Hindu-Muslim unity and a joint demand for self-government, but the acceptance of separate electorates helped communalism to grow.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Mahatma Gandhi and the National Movement

From 1919 the freedom struggle became a movement of millions. Follow Gandhi through three great campaigns: Non-Cooperation, Civil Disobedience and Quit India, and see what each demanded, achieved and cost.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Gandhi arrives
- Non-Cooperation
- Chauri Chaura
- Civil Disobedience
- Dandi March
- Gandhi-Irwin Pact
- Quit India

Gandhi Enters Indian Politics

Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi returned from South Africa in January 1915, where he had developed satyagraha (holding firmly to truth through non-violent resistance). On Gokhale's advice he toured India for a year. His first successes were at Champaran (1917) against forced indigo cultivation, Ahmedabad (1918) for mill workers' wages and Kheda (1918) for peasants who could not pay revenue after crop failure.

The Non-Cooperation Movement (1920-22)

Causes

CAUSE	WHAT HAPPENED
Rowlatt Act (March 1919)	Allowed the government to arrest and imprison people without trial for two years. Called the 'Black Act'. Gandhi launched a Satyagraha with a hartal on 6 April 1919
Jallianwala Bagh (13 April 1919)	On Baisakhi, a peaceful crowd gathered at an enclosed garden in Amritsar to protest the arrest of Dr Satyapal and Dr Saifuddin Kitchlew. General Dyer fired on them without warning, killing hundreds (the official figure was 379; Indian estimates were much higher). Tagore returned his knighthood. The Hunter Committee was set up to inquire
Khilafat Movement	After the First World War, Muslims feared that Britain would harm Turkey and the Sultan, who was the Khalifa, the religious head of the Muslims. The Ali brothers, Muhammad Ali and Shaukat Ali, led the movement and Gandhi gave it support as a way to unite Hindus and Muslims
Disappointment with the Montagu-Chelmsford reforms (1919)	They fell short of the self-government people had hoped for

The Congress approved the programme at a special session at Calcutta in September 1920 and confirmed it at Nagpur in December 1920.

Programme

- Negative: surrender of titles and honorary posts; boycott of government schools and colleges, law courts, legislative councils, foreign cloth and government functions; refusal to join the army in Mesopotamia.
- Constructive: national schools and colleges, village arbitration courts, spinning and weaving (khadi), Hindu-Muslim unity and the removal of untouchability.

Suspension: Chauri Chaura

On 5 February 1922 at Chauri Chaura (Gorakhpur, UP) a crowd of protestors was fired on by the police. The angry mob set fire to the police station and 22 policemen died. Shocked by the violence, Gandhi suspended the movement on 12 February. He was arrested in March and sentenced to six years in prison.

Impact

- It was the first mass movement of India and took the freedom struggle to villages, women and workers.
- Hindu-Muslim unity was at its peak, and fear of British power began to disappear.
- The Congress became a mass organisation. Khadi and national education grew.

- The sudden end disappointed many and the Khilafat issue faded when Turkey abolished the caliphate in 1924. C.R. Das and Motilal Nehru started the Swaraj Party in 1923 to fight in the councils.

> BOARD ALERT
> Gandhi suspended the movement in February 1922 because of violence at Chauri Chaura. Do not write it ended after the Salt March or write wrong years like 1950-34.

The Civil Disobedience Movement (1930-34)

Causes

- Simon Commission (1927): an all-white commission with no Indian member was sent to review reforms. It was boycotted and met with black flags and the cry 'Simon Go Back'. Lala Lajpat Rai was injured in a police lathi charge at Lahore in October 1928 and died in November.
- Poorna Swaraj: at the Lahore Session (December 1929) under Jawaharlal Nehru the Congress declared complete independence as its goal. The tricolour was hoisted on the Ravi bank on 31 December, and 26 January 1930 was marked as Independence Day.
- Gandhi's eleven demands sent to Viceroy Lord Irwin in January 1930 were ignored. He decided to start with the salt tax, which hit the poorest.

The Dandi March

On 12 March 1930 Gandhi left Sabarmati Ashram, Ahmedabad, with 78 followers and walked about 240 miles in 24 days to the seashore at Dandi. On 6 April 1930 he broke the salt law by picking up a lump of natural salt.

Programme

- Making salt in defiance of the law; boycott of foreign cloth and liquor shops.
- Non-payment of land revenue and taxes in some areas; resignation from government jobs; students leaving government institutions.

The movement spread all over India: Rajagopalachari marched at Vedaranyam; Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan ('Frontier Gandhi') led the Red Shirts in the north-west; Sarojini Naidu led the raid on Dharasana salt works after Gandhi's arrest. Thousands of women took part.

Impact

- It brought women and peasants in large numbers into politics.
- Foreign cloth and liquor sales fell and the government's income suffered.
- It showed that the British could be challenged on a mass scale without violence.
- Repression was heavy: tens of thousands were jailed.

Gandhi-Irwin Pact (5 March 1931) and the Second Round Table Conference

GOVERNMENT AGREED TO	CONGRESS AGREED TO
Release non-violent political prisoners; withdraw ordinances; allow salt making for home use in coastal villages and peaceful picketing	Suspend the Civil Disobedience Movement and attend the Second Round Table Conference

Gandhi was the only representative of the Congress at the Second Round Table Conference (London, September-December 1931). It failed because of disagreement on communal representation and Gandhi's claim that the Congress represented all Indians.

Renewal

On returning, Gandhi found Lord Willingdon's government had returned to repression with new ordinances and arrests of Congress workers in Bengal and the United Provinces. The movement was renewed in January 1932, but it lost strength under heavy suppression and was formally ended in 1934.

SIDEKICK TIP

Memory line: 12 March 1930 start; 6 April salt law broken; 5 March 1931 pact. Three dates, one story.

The Quit India Movement (1942)

Causes

- Failure of the Cripps Mission (March 1942): Britain offered only dominion status after the war and the right of provinces to stay out of the Union. It did not give real power at once.
- Japanese threat: Japan captured Singapore and Rangoon and approached the border of India. Gandhi felt that the British presence invited the attack, and only a free India could resist.
- British draft of India into the war without consultation; shortages and rising prices; the 'scorched earth' policy and seizure of boats in Bengal and Orissa.

On 8 August 1942 the All India Congress Committee passed the Quit India Resolution at Gowalia Tank Maidan in Bombay. Gandhi gave the mantra 'Do or Die'. By dawn on 9 August Gandhi and all the top Congress leaders were arrested and the Congress banned.

Leaderless, the people rose on their own. Workers, students and peasants cut telegraph wires, burned post offices and held strikes. Aruna Asaf Ali hoisted the flag at Gowalia Tank. Jayaprakash Narayan, Ram Manohar Lohia and Usha Mehta went underground and ran a secret Congress Radio. Parallel governments were set up at Ballia (UP), Tamluk (Bengal) and Satara (Maharashtra).

Significance

- It showed that the British could not rule against the will of the people; it was the last big national uprising.
- It created a mass base ready for independence and proved that the people were ready to sacrifice.
- It made the British aware that they would have to leave India after the war.

HOT QUESTION

Compare the Non-Cooperation Movement and the Civil Disobedience Movement on two points: causes and programme.

Comparing the Three Movements

	NON-COOPERATION (1920-22)	CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE (1930-34)	QUIT INDIA (1942)
Main trigger	Rowlatt Act, Jallianwala Bagh, Khilafat	Simon Commission, Poorna Swaraj, salt tax	Cripps failure, Japanese threat
Method	Boycott and constructive work	Breaking laws, salt, non-payment of tax	'Do or Die'; mass revolt without leaders
Ended by	Chauri Chaura violence	Pact 1931; renewed 1932; withdrawn 1934	Repression; Congress leaders in jail till 1945
Slogan	Swaraj in one year	Complete independence	Quit India

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1915	Gandhi returns to India
1919	Rowlatt Act; Jallianwala Bagh
1920	Non-Cooperation Movement begins
1922	Chauri Chaura; movement suspended
1929	Lahore Congress: Poorna Swaraj
1930	Dandi March; Civil Disobedience begins
1931	Gandhi-Irwin Pact; Second Round Table Conference
1942	Quit India Resolution, 8 August

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Gandhi's mass phase: three movements, one method (non-violent satyagraha)

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Non-Cooperation	Khilafat, Rowlatt, Jallianwala; boycott and khadi; Chauri Chaura 1922
Civil Disobedience	Simon; Poorna Swaraj 1929; Dandi 1930; Irwin Pact 1931; renewal 1932
Quit India	Cripps failure; Japan; 8 Aug 1942; Do or Die; underground leaders
Impact	Mass participation; women; unity; fear removed

Practice Questions

1. State any two causes of the Non-Cooperation Movement.

Ans.

The Rowlatt Act and the Jallianwala Bagh massacre, and the Khilafat issue.

2. What was the Rowlatt Act?

Ans.

A law of 1919 that allowed the government to arrest and imprison any person without trial.

3. Describe the Jallianwala Bagh tragedy.

Ans.

On 13 April 1919, General Dyer ordered troops to open fire on an unarmed crowd in a walled garden in Amritsar, killing hundreds.

4. Mention two items in the programme of the Non-Cooperation Movement.

Ans.

Boycott of government schools, law courts and foreign cloth; surrender of titles; use of khadi.

5. Why did Gandhi suspend the Non-Cooperation Movement?

Ans.

At Chauri Chaura on 5 February 1922 a mob burned a police station, killing 22 policemen, and Gandhi would not allow the movement to turn violent.

6. What happened at the Lahore Session of 1929?

Ans.

Under the presidency of Jawaharlal Nehru, the Congress declared Poorna Swaraj, or complete independence, as its aim.

7. Describe the Dandi March.

Ans.

Gandhi started on 12 March 1930 from Sabarmati Ashram with 78 followers, walked about 240 miles and broke the salt law at Dandi on 6 April 1930.

8. What was the Gandhi-Irwin Pact?

Ans.

A 1931 agreement under which Congress suspended the movement and joined the Second Round Table Conference, while the government released prisoners and allowed salt-making for domestic use.

9. Why was the Civil Disobedience Movement renewed?

Ans.

Because the Second Round Table Conference failed and the government began fresh repression on Gandhi's return.

10. State two causes and two significance points of the Quit India Movement.

Ans.

Causes: failure of the Cripps Mission and the Japanese threat. Significance: it was a mass uprising that showed the British they could not rule against the people's will, and it prepared the final steps to independence.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Forward Bloc and the INA

While Gandhi's movements shook the Empire from within, Subhas Chandra Bose took a bolder route. He broke away from the Congress, escaped house arrest, crossed continents and raised an army to fight for India's freedom.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Subhas Bose
- Forward Bloc
- Escape from India
- Azad Hind Fauj
- Contribution
- Red Fort trials

Subhas Chandra Bose: A Quick Portrait

Born in Cuttack on 23 January 1897, Bose passed the ICS examination in England but resigned in 1921 to join the freedom struggle. He became the Congress president in 1938 (Haripura) and was re-elected in 1939 at Tripuri, defeating Gandhi's candidate Pattabhi Sitaramayya. Gandhi's opposition and Bose's disagreement with the Congress leaders over the timing of the struggle forced him to resign.

The Forward Bloc (1939)

Bose founded the All India Forward Bloc in May 1939 as a left wing within the Congress.

Objectives

- To bring all radical and anti-imperialist forces together in a united front for complete independence.
- To use the opportunity of the war in Europe to launch an immediate struggle against the British.
- To build a socialist and egalitarian society after freedom.
- To oppose compromise with the British.

The British arrested Bose in July 1940 under the Defence of India Rules after he led a protest against the Holwell Monument in Calcutta. On 17 January 1941, disguised as a Pathan, he escaped from his Calcutta house, went through Kabul and Moscow to Berlin, where he started the 'Free India Centre' and the Azad Hind Radio.

The Indian National Army (INA)

- The INA was first formed in 1942 in Southeast Asia from Indian prisoners of war captured by Japan, under Captain Mohan Singh and with the support of the Indian Independence League led by Rash Behari Bose.
- In July 1943 Subhas Chandra Bose, who had travelled by submarine from Germany, took over leadership at Singapore. He is known as Netaji. He reorganised the force as the Azad Hind Fauj.
- On 21 October 1943 he set up the Provisional Government of Free India (Azad Hind) at Singapore, which was recognised by Japan, Germany and some other Axis states.
- The slogans were 'Jai Hind' and 'Delhi Chalo'. His appeal: 'Give me blood and I shall give you freedom'.
- It had units named after Gandhi, Nehru and Azad, and a women's Rani of Jhansi Regiment under Captain Lakshmi Sahgal.

Objectives

- To free India from British rule by an armed struggle.
- To unite Indians of all religions, castes and regions in a common cause.

Contribution of Subhas Chandra Bose

- He organised soldiers, civilians and women overseas into a disciplined force and raised funds from Indians abroad.
- INA units fought beside the Japanese in Burma and entered Indian soil at Moirang in Manipur in April 1944. The Andaman and Nicobar Islands were handed to the Azad Hind government and named Shaheed and Swaraj islands.
- He built national unity: soldiers of all religions served together, eating together under the same flag.

- After the Japanese defeat in Burma, the INA retreated. Bose is believed to have died in an air crash in Taiwan on 18 August 1945.

The Red Fort Trials and the Aftermath

In 1945-46 the British put on trial three INA officers, Shah Nawaz Khan, Prem Sahgal and Gurbaksh Singh Dhillon, a Muslim, a Hindu and a Sikh, at the Red Fort, Delhi. The trial caused an outburst of public support, and Congress leaders such as Nehru and Bhulabhai Desai defended them. The three were released. Shortly afterwards the Royal Indian Navy mutiny at Bombay (February 1946) showed that Indian forces could no longer be relied upon by the British.

GANDHI'S APPROACH	BOSE'S APPROACH
Non-violent mass movements	Armed struggle with foreign help
Waited for a moment of national readiness	Believed in using the world war immediately
Congress, working inside India	Forward Bloc and INA, working mainly from outside

KEY POINT

Contribution of Bose in one line: he made India's independence an international cause and the INA proved that Indian soldiers of all faiths could stand together.

BOARD ALERT

The INA was an army for Indian independence, not a Japanese unit. Bose and the Japanese had different aims; he accepted Japan's help but did not want Japanese rule.

REAL LIFE

The Red Fort in Delhi, where the INA trials took place, now has a museum on Subhas Chandra Bose and the INA.

HOT QUESTION

'The INA's military campaign failed but its political impact was huge.' Do you agree?

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1939	Bose resigns as Congress President; founds the Forward Bloc
1941	Escapes from India (17 January)
1942	First INA formed under Mohan Singh
1943	Bose takes charge (July); Provisional Government (21 October)
1944	INA enters Manipur
1945	Death of Bose (reported 18 August); Red Fort trials begin in November

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Netaji = Forward Bloc (inside India) + INA (outside India)

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Forward Bloc	1939; unite radicals; complete independence; use the war
Escape	1941: Kolkata, Kabul, Berlin
INA	1942 (Mohan Singh, R.B. Bose); Netaji 1943; Singapore; 'Delhi Chalo'
Regiments	Rani of Jhansi Regiment: Lakshmi Sahgal
Impact	Red Fort trials; RIN revolt 1946; unity of faiths

Practice Questions

1. When and why did Subhas Chandra Bose found the Forward Bloc?

Ans.

In 1939, after resigning as Congress president, to unite all radical groups for an immediate struggle for independence.

2. State two objectives of the Forward Bloc.

Ans.

To unite anti-imperialist forces and to win complete independence by taking advantage of the war.

3. How did Bose escape from India in 1941?

Ans.

He left his Calcutta home in disguise on 17 January 1941 and travelled via Afghanistan and Moscow to Berlin.

4. Who founded the INA and who later led it?

Ans.

It was formed in 1942 by Mohan Singh with Rash Behari Bose's support, and Subhas Chandra Bose led it from 1943.

5. What was the Provisional Government of Free India?

Ans.

The government in exile set up by Subhas Chandra Bose at Singapore on 21 October 1943 for the liberation of India.

6. Mention two objectives of the INA.

Ans.

To liberate India by armed struggle and to unite Indians of all religions, castes and regions.

7. What was the Rani of Jhansi Regiment?

Ans.

The women's unit of the INA, commanded by Captain Lakshmi Sahgal.

8. Mention two contributions of Subhas Chandra Bose to the freedom struggle.

Ans.

He organised an army to fight for India's freedom and inspired all Indians, irrespective of religion, to unite under one banner.

9. What was the outcome of the INA trials?

Ans.

They aroused wide public sympathy, the accused officers were released and the British realised they could not depend on the Indian army.

10. Distinguish between the methods of Gandhi and Bose.

Ans.

Gandhi relied on non-violent mass movements within India; Bose believed in armed struggle assisted by outside powers.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Independence and Partition of India

After the war, Britain was exhausted and India was restless. In just over a year three plans reshaped the subcontinent: the Cabinet Mission, the Mountbatten Plan and the Indian Independence Act. This chapter takes you through the clauses and the reasons.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Cabinet Mission Plan
- Mountbatten Plan
- Acceptance
- Indian Independence Act 1947
- Partition

Setting the Stage

In 1945 a Labour government came to power in Britain and promised India self-rule. The Muslim League, led by Jinnah, demanded a separate Pakistan (Lahore Resolution, 1940), while the Congress stood for a united India. The INA trials, the naval mutiny of 1946 and the communal tension made the British quick to leave.

The Cabinet Mission Plan (March 1946)

Three British Cabinet ministers, Pethick-Lawrence, Stafford Cripps and A.V. Alexander, came to India to work out a settlement.

Clauses

- No separate Pakistan. India was to remain a Union with the Centre in charge of defence, foreign affairs and communications; all other subjects with provinces.
- Provinces were to be divided into three groups: Group A (Hindu-majority provinces such as Madras, Bombay, UP, Bihar, Orissa, CP), Group B (Punjab, Sind, NWFP and Baluchistan) and Group C (Bengal and Assam).
- A Constituent Assembly would be elected by the provincial assemblies to frame a new Constitution.
- An Interim Government of Indian leaders would run the country meanwhile.
- Paramountcy over the princely states would lapse; they were free to negotiate.

The Congress accepted the plan for the Constituent Assembly, though it objected to the grouping. The League first accepted but withdrew in July 1946 and announced Direct Action Day on 16 August 1946, which led to terrible riots in Calcutta. An Interim Government under Nehru took office on 2 September 1946, and the League joined it in October with a different aim.

The Mountbatten Plan (3 June 1947)

Lord Louis Mountbatten arrived as the last Viceroy in March 1947. He saw that the Cabinet Mission scheme could not work and a division was unavoidable. His plan was announced on 3 June 1947.

Clauses

- India would be divided into India and Pakistan.
- The legislative assemblies of Punjab and Bengal would vote, in two sections (Hindu-majority and Muslim-majority districts), on whether to divide their provinces.
- NWFP and the Sylhet district of Assam would decide in a referendum.
- A Boundary Commission (headed by Sir Cyril Radcliffe) would draw the borders.
- Princely states were free to join either India or Pakistan, but could not stay independent in practice.
- India and Pakistan would be given dominion status and the power would be transferred on 15 August 1947, earlier than the date of June 1948 set before.

Acceptance

- The Congress accepted it reluctantly, as a way to stop the violence and to take power quickly. Nehru and Patel agreed, and Gandhi was deeply opposed but did not stop it.

- The Muslim League accepted it, since it had got Pakistan, though it thought the new country was 'moth-eaten'.
- The Sikh leaders accepted it but were uneasy about the division of Punjab.

The Indian Independence Act, 1947

The British Parliament passed it on 18 July 1947. It came into effect on 15 August 1947.

- Two independent dominions, India and Pakistan, were created, each with its own Governor-General.
- The Constituent Assemblies of both would also work as their legislatures until the new constitutions were made, and the Government of India Act, 1935 would serve as the interim constitution.
- The British government gave up all control over the dominions. The office of the Secretary of State for India was abolished and the king was no longer 'Emperor of India'.
- British paramountcy over the princely states lapsed; they could accede to either dominion.
- The Boundary Commission would draw the new borders.

On the midnight of 14-15 August 1947 India became free. Mountbatten stayed on as the first Governor-General, and Jawaharlal Nehru became Prime Minister. Pakistan celebrated on 14 August, with Jinnah as Governor-General.

Partition and Its Aftermath

- About 10 to 15 million people were uprooted in one of the largest migrations in history and a large number died in violence.
- The Radcliffe line was announced only after independence, creating confusion in Punjab and Bengal.
- Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and V.P. Menon persuaded most of the over 560 princely states to join India. Hyderabad (Operation Polo, 1948), Junagadh and Kashmir (1947) needed special handling.

BOARD ALERT

The Cabinet Mission rejected Pakistan and the Mountbatten Plan accepted it. Do not mix them. The Cabinet Mission plan was in 1946; Mountbatten's in 1947.

SIDEKICK TIP

Cabinet Mission = Cabinet ministers, 3 groups, Union and Constituent Assembly. Mountbatten = Partition, 15 August, referendum.

FUN FACT

Mountbatten advanced the transfer date from June 1948 to 15 August 1947. He chose it because it was the second anniversary of the Japanese surrender.

HOT QUESTION

Why did the Congress accept the partition plan even though it had always opposed the division of India?

Comparing the Plans

	CABINET MISSION (1946)	MOUNTBATTEN PLAN (1947)	INDEPENDENCE ACT (1947)
Aim	Keep India united	Divide into India and Pakistan	Give legal form to the plan
Pakistan	Rejected	Accepted	Created
Princely states	Paramountcy to lapse	Free to join either	Paramountcy lapses
Result	League withdrew; Direct Action	Accepted by Congress and League	Independence on 15 Aug 1947

18 July 1947	Indian Independence Act
15 Aug 1947	Independence and Partition

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Three steps to independence: Plan (1946) → Plan (1947) → Act (1947)

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Cabinet Mission	Union Centre: defence, foreign affairs, communications; 3 groups; Constituent Assembly
Mountbatten Plan	Partition; Punjab and Bengal vote; NWFP and Sylhet referendum; Boundary Commission; princes free
Acceptance	Congress and League accepted; Gandhi opposed
Independence Act	Two dominions; paramountcy lapses; Secretary of State abolished; 15 Aug 1947

Practice Questions

1. Name the members of the Cabinet Mission.

Ans.

Pethick-Lawrence, Stafford Cripps and A.V. Alexander.

2. State any two clauses of the Cabinet Mission Plan.

Ans.

India would stay a Union with the Centre controlling defence, foreign affairs and communications; and a Constituent Assembly would be elected to frame the constitution.

3. How did the Cabinet Mission Plan treat the demand for Pakistan?

Ans.

It rejected a separate Pakistan, but proposed grouping of provinces into three sections.

4. What was the Direct Action Day?

Ans.

The day (16 August 1946) on which the Muslim League urged its followers to press for Pakistan, which led to riots in Calcutta.

5. State two clauses of the Mountbatten Plan.

Ans.

Partition of India into India and Pakistan, and the decision by Punjab and Bengal assemblies on whether to be divided.

6. Who accepted the Mountbatten Plan?

Ans.

The Congress, the Muslim League and the Sikh leaders.

7. What role did the Boundary Commission play?

Ans.

It was headed by Radcliffe and drew the borders of the new nations in Punjab and Bengal.

8. State two provisions of the Indian Independence Act of 1947.

Ans.

The creation of the dominions of India and Pakistan, and the end of British paramountcy over the princely states.

9. What happened to the princely states?

Ans.

They were free to join India or Pakistan; most joined India with the help of Patel and Menon.

10. Why did Mountbatten favour partition in 1947?

Ans.

He felt that the communal violence and the deadlock between Congress and League made a united India unworkable, and delay might cause a civil war.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The First World War

One assassination in a small Balkan city set off a war that killed about ten million soldiers and reshaped the world map. This chapter explains why Europe was a tinderbox and how the war was settled at Versailles.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Nationalism and imperialism
- Armament race
- Alliances
- Sarajevo crisis
- Treaty of Versailles
- League of Nations

Causes of the War (1914-18)

1. Nationalism and Imperialism

- Extreme nationalism made nations hostile. France wanted revenge for its defeat in 1871 and the return of Alsace-Lorraine. Slavs in the Balkans, backed by Russia (Pan-Slavism), wished to be free of Austria-Hungary.
- Imperialism: the great powers competed for colonies, raw materials and markets in Africa and Asia. Germany, a late starter, challenged Britain and France (the Moroccan crises of 1905 and 1911 are examples).

2. Armament race

- Germany, France and Russia built huge armies. Britain and Germany competed in the building of warships, especially Dreadnoughts.
- Military planners drew up rigid war plans such as the German Schlieffen Plan, which made war hard to stop once begun.

3. Division of Europe into two camps

ALLIANCE	MEMBERS	FORMED
Triple Alliance	Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy	1882
Triple Entente	Britain, France, Russia	1907 (completed)

Italy stayed out at first and later joined the Entente (1915). Because of these alliances, a quarrel between two countries could drag in all the powers.

4. The Sarajevo crisis (immediate cause)

1. 28 June 1914
Archduke Franz Ferdinand, the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife were assassinated at Sarajevo (Bosnia) by Gavrilo Princip, a Bosnian Serb student linked to a Serb nationalist group.

2. 23 July
Austria-Hungary sent an ultimatum to Serbia, backed by Germany's 'blank cheque'.

3. 28 July
Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia.

4. 1-3 August
Russia mobilised to support Serbia. Germany declared war on Russia and on France.

5. 4 August
Germany invaded Belgium, and Britain declared war on Germany.

The war was fought between the Allies (Britain, France, Russia, later Italy, Japan and the USA from 1917) and the Central Powers (Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria). The USA joined in April 1917, and Russia left after the revolution of 1917. The war ended on 11 November 1918 with the armistice.

Results

Treaty of Versailles (28 June 1919)

The Allies imposed the treaty on Germany, which was not allowed to negotiate. Germans called it a 'diktat', a dictated peace.

TYPE	TERMS
Territorial	Alsace-Lorraine returned to France; Eupen-Malmedy to Belgium; Poland got the 'Polish Corridor' and Danzig became a free city; the Saar coalfield came under the League for 15 years; all German colonies were taken as 'mandates'
Military	Army limited to 100,000; no air force, no tanks, no submarines; small navy; the Rhineland to be demilitarised
Financial	Germany to pay heavy reparations (fixed at 6,600 million pounds in 1921)
War guilt	Article 231 made Germany accept responsibility for the war
Other	Union (Anschluss) with Austria was banned

Other treaties dealt with Germany's allies: St Germain (Austria), Trianon (Hungary), Neuilly (Bulgaria) and Sèvres (Turkey). The Austro-Hungarian, Russian, German and Ottoman empires collapsed and new states such as Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia appeared.

The League of Nations

Suggested in the Fourteen Points of US President Woodrow Wilson, the League was formed in 1920 with headquarters at Geneva.

- Objectives: to maintain world peace and prevent war; to settle disputes by arbitration and discussion; to reduce arms; to protect member states from aggression (collective security); to improve labour conditions, health and living standards.
- The organs were the Assembly, the Council, the Secretariat and the Permanent Court of International Justice.
- The USA never joined, even though Wilson had proposed it. The League had no army of its own.

KEY POINT

The Treaty of Versailles humiliated Germany, which created the resentment that Hitler later used. This is why the treaty is called the 'seed of the Second World War'.

SIDEKICK TIP

Causes: N-A-A-S = Nationalism and imperialism, Armament race, Alliance system, Sarajevo.

FUN FACT

The Treaty of Versailles was signed in the Hall of Mirrors in the same palace in which the German Empire had been proclaimed in 1871.

REAL LIFE

The war also changed India. About 1.3 million Indians served overseas; and Indians' hopes of rewards for the sacrifice were dashed by the Rowlatt Act. See the chapter on Gandhi.

HOT QUESTION

'The Treaty of Versailles was a treaty of vengeance and not of peace.' Do you agree?

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1882	Triple Alliance
1907	Triple Entente complete
1914	Sarajevo assassination; war begins
1917	USA enters; Russian Revolution
1918	Armistice, 11 November
1919	Treaty of Versailles
1920	League of Nations begins

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Causes → War → Versailles → League

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Nationalism and imperialism	Revenge for Alsace-Lorraine; Pan-Slavism; colonial rivalry
Armament race	Dreadnoughts, conscription, war plans
Alliances	Triple Alliance vs Triple Entente
Sarajevo	28 June 1914, Princip kills Franz Ferdinand
Versailles	Territory, army 100,000, reparations, war guilt
League	1920; Geneva; Wilson; collective security

Practice Questions

1. How did nationalism and imperialism lead to the First World War?

Ans.

Rival nationalisms and the competition for colonies made the great powers suspicious and hostile towards each other.

2. What do you understand by the armament race?

Ans.

A race among the powers to build bigger armies and navies, which increased fear and made a peaceful settlement of quarrels harder.

3. Name the two rival camps in Europe before 1914.

Ans.

The Triple Alliance (Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy) and the Triple Entente (Britain, France, Russia).

4. What was the Sarajevo crisis?

Ans.

The assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand by a Serb nationalist at Sarajevo on 28 June 1914, which led Austria-Hungary to declare war on Serbia.

5. State two terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

Ans.

Germany lost Alsace-Lorraine and its colonies, and had to pay reparations (any two).

6. Why was the Treaty of Versailles considered harsh?

Ans.

It blamed Germany alone, took territory and colonies, limited its army and demanded heavy payments, and was imposed without negotiation.

7. When and why was the League of Nations formed?

Ans.

In 1920 to maintain peace and prevent future wars through collective security.

8. State two objectives of the League of Nations.

Ans.

To maintain world peace and settle disputes by arbitration; to promote cooperation in health, labour and welfare.

9. Who proposed the League of Nations and where was its headquarters?

Ans.

US President Woodrow Wilson; it was headquartered in Geneva.

10. Mention two results of the First World War.

Ans.

The collapse of four empires and creation of new states; the formation of the League of Nations; huge losses of life and wealth.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

Rise of Dictatorships

In the 1920s and 1930s, two European democracies fell to strongmen. Learn why Italy turned to Mussolini and Germany to Hitler, and what Fascism and Nazism had in common.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Fascism in Italy
- Nazism in Germany
- Reasons
- Common features

What Is a Dictatorship?

A dictatorship is rule by a single leader or party with absolute power, no free elections, no free press and no tolerance for opposition. After 1919 several European countries were torn by war damage, unemployment and fear of communism, and moved towards it. The two most important cases were Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

Rise of Fascism in Italy

Italy was on the winning side in the First World War but felt cheated. Benito Mussolini founded the Fascist Party in 1921; his followers wore black shirts. The name comes from the Latin fasces, a bundle of rods with an axe, a symbol of strength through unity.

Causes

- Dissatisfaction with the peace treaties: Italy hoped to gain territories promised in the Secret Treaty of London (such as parts of Dalmatia) and Fiume, but got far less. Nationalists spoke of a 'mutilated victory'.
- Economic crisis: after the war there was heavy debt, rising prices, unemployment and strikes.
- Political instability: weak, quarrelling coalition governments could not fix the problems.
- Fear of communism: factory occupations in 1919-20 scared landlords, industrialists and the middle class, who then supported Mussolini.
- Mussolini's leadership: a gifted speaker who promised order, jobs and national glory, backed by a private force, the Blackshirts.

In October 1922 the Fascists marched on Rome, and King Victor Emmanuel III asked Mussolini to form the government instead of resisting. Within a few years he had banned other parties, controlled the press and become Il Duce (the Leader).

Rise of Nazism in Germany

Adolf Hitler led the National Socialist German Workers' Party (the Nazi Party). He tried to seize power in the Munich Beer Hall Putsch (1923), was jailed and wrote Mein Kampf, which set out his ideas.

Causes

- Humiliation of the Treaty of Versailles: the loss of territory, colonies and army and the demand for reparations and 'war guilt' angered Germans. Hitler promised to tear it up.
- Weakness of the Weimar Republic: coalition governments were unstable and were blamed for signing the treaty.
- Economic ruin: hyperinflation in 1923 wiped out savings, and the Great Depression (1929) left about 6 million people jobless.
- Fear of communism: business owners and the middle class backed Hitler to block the communists.
- Hitler's leadership and propaganda: mass rallies, posters, radio and cinema, the swastika and slogans, and the blaming of Jews and communists for Germany's problems.

1. 30 January 1933
President Hindenburg appointed Hitler Chancellor.

2. 27 February 1933
The Reichstag (parliament) building burned; Hitler blamed the communists and obtained emergency powers.

3. March 1933
The Enabling Act allowed Hitler to make laws without the Reichstag.

4. August 1934
After Hindenburg died, Hitler combined the posts of President and Chancellor and became the Führer.

Similarities Between Fascism and Nazism

FEATURE	HOW EACH SHOWED IT
Extreme nationalism	Both put the nation above the individual and glorified national strength; Italy dreamt of a new Roman Empire and Germany of a Greater Germany
One-party totalitarian state	One party, one leader (Il Duce and the Führer); no opposition, free press or free elections
Faith in violence and militarism	Private armies (Blackshirts, Brownshirts, SS); war glorified; rearmament
Opposed democracy and communism	Both rejected parliamentary rule, equality and socialism
Use of propaganda and terror	Control of schools, press and films; secret police
Expansionist aims	Italy invaded Abyssinia (1935) and Albania; Germany annexed Austria and took Czechoslovakia
Cult of the leader	Obedience to the leader was the highest duty

Difference: Nazism was also built on a theory of racial superiority of the 'Aryans' and persecuted the Jews, which led to the Holocaust. Fascism was centred more on the glory of the state.

SIDEKICK TIP
Why both? V-E-P-C-L: Versailles anger, Economic crisis, Political weakness, Communist fear, Leader's appeal.

BOARD ALERT
Hitler was appointed Chancellor in 1933; he did not seize power by a coup. The Beer Hall Putsch (1923) was an unsuccessful attempt.

KEY POINT

Both dictators came to power by exploiting the fears and anger of ordinary people, not only by force.

HOT QUESTION

Why did democracy fail in Germany but survive in Britain and France during the same economic crisis?

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1921	Fascist Party formed in Italy
1922	March on Rome; Mussolini in power
1923	Beer Hall Putsch; German hyperinflation
1929	Great Depression
1933	Hitler becomes Chancellor
1934	Hitler becomes Führer

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: Dictators rise where democracies seem weak and people are afraid

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Italy	Mussolini, Blackshirts; 'mutilated victory'; economic crisis; fear of communism; March on Rome 1922
Germany	Hitler, Nazis; Versailles anger; inflation, Depression; Weimar weakness; 1933
Common ground	Nationalism; one party; violence; anti-communist; propaganda; expansion
Difference	Nazis added racial theory and persecution of Jews

Practice Questions

1. Who was Mussolini and what did he promise?

Ans.

The founder of the Fascist Party and ruler of Italy from 1922. He promised order, jobs and national glory.

2. State two reasons for the rise of Fascism in Italy.

Ans.

Italy's dissatisfaction with the peace settlement and its serious economic and political crisis.

3. What was the March on Rome?

Ans.

In October 1922 Fascists marched on the capital and the king asked Mussolini to form a government.

4. What was Hitler's attitude to the Treaty of Versailles?

Ans.

He called it unjust and promised to cancel it and restore German honour and power.

5. State two causes of the rise of Nazism in Germany.

Ans.

The humiliation of the Treaty of Versailles and the economic collapse caused by the Great Depression.

6. How did the Great Depression help Hitler?

Ans.

With millions jobless, people turned to his promises of jobs and national revival.

7. What was the Enabling Act?

Ans.

The 1933 law that gave Hitler the power to make laws without the Reichstag.

8. Name two similarities between Fascism and Nazism.

Ans.

Both were extreme nationalist, one-party totalitarian states under a single leader, and both opposed democracy and communism.

9. Who were the Blackshirts?

Ans.

The armed followers of Mussolini in the Fascist Party.

10. Mention one difference between the two ideologies.

Ans.

Nazism was based on racial theory and hatred of Jews, which Fascism did not stress in the same way.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The Second World War

Twenty years after the 'war to end all wars', Europe and Asia were in flames again. See what caused the war, how it grew into a global conflict and what changed when it ended.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Dissatisfaction with Versailles
- Appeasement
- Invasion of China
- Failure of the League
- Poland 1939
- Pearl Harbor
- Hiroshima
- Cold War

The Two Sides

ALLIES	AXIS
Britain, France, USSR (from 1941), USA (from 1941), China and others	Germany, Italy and Japan (the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis)

Causes of the War (1939-45)

1. Dissatisfaction with the Treaty of Versailles
Germany felt humiliated and wanted to undo the treaty. Italy and Japan also thought the peace settlements gave them too little.

2. Rise of Fascism and Nazism
Aggressive dictators glorified war and wanted territory. Hitler rearmed Germany, left the League (1933), occupied the Rhineland (1936) and absorbed Austria (1938). Mussolini attacked Abyssinia (1935).

3. Policy of Appeasement
Britain and France gave in to Hitler's demands in the hope of avoiding war. At the Munich Agreement (September 1938)
they let Germany take the Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia. Germany occupied the rest of the country in March 1939. Appeasement only encouraged him.

4. Japanese invasion of China
Japan seized Manchuria in 1931 and began a full-scale invasion of China in 1937, to get raw materials and markets. The world did not stop it.

5. Failure of the League of Nations
The League could not stop aggression in Manchuria (1931) or Abyssinia (1935). It had no army, lacked the USA, and its members would not act together.

6. Hitler's invasion of Poland
On
1 September 1939
Germany invaded Poland. Britain and France had promised to defend Poland and declared war on
3 September
. The war had begun.

Course of the War in Brief

DATE	EVENT
1939	Germany and the USSR sign a non-aggression pact in August, then divide Poland
1940	Germany conquers Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium and France; Battle of Britain
June 1941	Germany attacks the USSR (Operation Barbarossa)
7 December 1941	Japan attacks the American naval base at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii; the USA enters the war
1942-43	Turning points: Stalingrad (USSR), El Alamein (North Africa)
June 1944	D-Day: Allied landing in Normandy, France
8 May 1945	Germany surrenders (VE Day)
6 and 9 August 1945	The USA drops atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki
2 September 1945	Japan formally surrenders; the war ends

- Pearl Harbor: Japan hoped to cripple the US Pacific Fleet. Instead it brought the powerful USA into the war against the Axis.
- Hiroshima and Nagasaki: the bombs killed well over 100,000 people at once and many more later. They remain the only use of nuclear weapons in war. Japan announced its surrender on 15 August.

Consequences

- Defeat of the Axis Powers. Germany was divided into occupation zones, Italy lost its empire and Japan was occupied by the USA.
- Heavy human and material loss: estimates run to over 50 million dead, including six million Jews killed in the Holocaust.
- Formation of the United Nations (1945) to replace the failed League of Nations.
- Cold War: the USA and USSR emerged as superpowers and became rivals.
- European colonial empires began to end: India, Indonesia and many African countries became independent.

The Cold War

The Cold War was a period of tension and rivalry between the USA and its allies (the Western, capitalist bloc) and the USSR and its allies (the Eastern, communist bloc). The two superpowers never fought each other directly. It was fought through an arms race, propaganda, spying, alliances and wars in other countries, such as Korea and Vietnam. It lasted from about 1945 to 1991, when the USSR broke up.

ALLIANCE	FORMED	LED BY	MEANING
NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation)	1949	USA	A military alliance of Western countries to defend each other against Soviet expansion
Warsaw Pact	1955	USSR	A military alliance of Eastern European communist countries, formed in reply to NATO

KEY POINT

For the board examination only the meaning of the Cold War, NATO and the Warsaw Pact is required.

SIDEKICK TIP

Causes in one line: Versailles anger + dictators + appeasement + Japan in China + League failure + Poland.

BOARD ALERT

The war began in 1939 with Poland, not with Pearl Harbor. Pearl Harbor (1941) only brought in the USA.

REAL LIFE

The Atomic Bomb Dome in Hiroshima is preserved as a World Heritage Site, a reminder of the cost of nuclear war.

FUN FACT

Czechoslovakia was not even invited to the Munich conference that decided its fate.

HOT QUESTION

'Appeasement was a mistake that made war certain.' Do you agree? Give reasons.

Comparing the Two World Wars

	FIRST WORLD WAR	SECOND WORLD WAR
Years	1914-18	1939-45
Immediate cause	Sarajevo assassination	Invasion of Poland
Ended by	Treaty of Versailles	Surrender of Germany and Japan
Peace body	League of Nations	United Nations

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: WWII = unfinished business of WWI + aggressive dictators + weak response

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Causes	Versailles; Fascism and Nazism; appeasement; Japan in China; League's failure; Poland 1939
Key events	Pearl Harbor 7 Dec 1941; Stalingrad; D-Day 1944; Hiroshima 6 Aug and Nagasaki 9 Aug 1945
Results	Axis defeated; UN formed; Cold War; decolonisation
Cold War	USA vs USSR; NATO 1949; Warsaw Pact 1955

Practice Questions

1. How did the Treaty of Versailles contribute to the Second World War?

Ans.

It humiliated Germany, which wanted revenge, and gave Hitler a reason to rearm and attack.

2. What was the policy of appeasement?

Ans.

The policy of Britain and France to give in to Hitler's demands to avoid war. An example was the Munich Agreement of 1938.

3. How did Japan's invasion of China lead to war?

Ans.

Japan's attacks on Manchuria and China went unchecked, encouraging other aggressors and raising tension with the western powers in Asia.

4. Why did the League of Nations fail?

Ans.

It lacked an army, the USA never joined it and the powers would not act together against aggressors.

5. What was the immediate cause of the Second World War?

Ans.

The German invasion of Poland on 1 September 1939, after which Britain and France declared war.

6. What happened at Pearl Harbor?

Ans.

On 7 December 1941 Japan attacked the US naval base in Hawaii, which brought the USA into the war.

7. What happened at Hiroshima and Nagasaki?

Ans.

The USA dropped atomic bombs on them on 6 and 9 August 1945, leading to Japan's surrender.

8. State two consequences of the Second World War.

Ans.

The defeat of the Axis and the formation of the United Nations; the start of the Cold War.

9. What is meant by the Cold War?

Ans.

A state of hostility and rivalry between the USA and the USSR and their allies, fought without direct war between them.

10. What are NATO and the Warsaw Pact?

Ans.

NATO (1949) was a military alliance of the Western bloc led by the USA. The Warsaw Pact (1955) was the Soviet-led alliance of Eastern European countries.

- International Court of Justice
- UNICEF, WHO, UNESCO
- UDHR

Birth of the UN

The Charter was signed by 50 nations at San Francisco on 26 June 1945 and came into force on 24 October 1945, now observed as UN Day. Its headquarters are in New York. It has 193 members.

Objectives

- To maintain international peace and security and prevent war.
- To develop friendly relations among nations on the basis of equality and self-determination.
- To encourage international cooperation in solving economic, social, cultural and humanitarian problems.
- To promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms for all, without distinction of race, sex, language or religion.
- To be a centre for harmonising the actions of nations.

Principal Organs

There are six: the General Assembly, the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, the Trusteeship Council (inactive since 1994), the International Court of Justice and the Secretariat, headed by the Secretary-General.

The General Assembly

POINT	DETAIL
Composition	All member states; each has one vote, however big or small. Meets every year from September. A President is elected each year
Functions	Discusses any issue within the Charter and makes recommendations; approves the budget; elects the non-permanent members of the Security Council; on the Security Council's recommendation admits new members and appoints the Secretary-General; with the Security Council elects the judges of the ICJ
Voting	Simple majority; important questions (peace and security, admission, budget) need a two-thirds majority of those present and voting

The Security Council

POINT	DETAIL
Composition	15 members: five permanent (USA, UK, France, Russia, China) and ten non-permanent elected by the General Assembly for two years, who cannot be re-elected immediately
Veto	A decision needs at least nine votes, and a negative vote by any permanent member (the veto) blocks a substantive decision
Functions	Main responsibility for peace and security. It investigates disputes, asks the parties to settle them peacefully, imposes sanctions, sends peacekeeping forces and can authorise military action against aggressors; recommends the Secretary-General and new members

BOARD ALERT

Do not write that the Security Council has fifteen permanent members. It has five permanent and ten non-permanent members.

The International Court of Justice (ICJ)

- Located at The Hague (Netherlands); the principal judicial organ of the UN.
- 15 judges elected for 9 years by the General Assembly and Security Council voting separately; one-third retire every three years. No two judges may be of the same nationality.
- Functions: settles legal disputes between states that agree to come before it, and gives advisory opinions on legal questions referred by UN organs and agencies. Only states, not individuals, can bring cases.

Major Agencies

AGENCY	HEADQUARTERS	FUNCTIONS
UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund, 1946)	New York	Protects the rights of children: nutrition, vaccination, education and emergency help
WHO (World Health Organization, 1948)	Geneva	Directs international health work; fights diseases and epidemics; sets health standards. It led the campaign that eradicated smallpox
UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, 1945)	Paris	Promotes education, science, culture and communication; protects World Heritage Sites

SIDEKICK TIP

Headquarters: UNICEF is in New York, WHO in Geneva, UNESCO in Paris. WHO and Geneva both end in a similar sound, and the Eiffel Tower tells you Paris is for UNESCO.

Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR)

The General Assembly adopted the UDHR on 10 December 1948 in Paris (now celebrated as Human Rights Day). It lists the basic rights and freedoms to which every human being is entitled, such as the right to life and liberty, equality before the law, freedom of thought, religion and expression, the right to education and freedom from slavery and torture. It is a declaration of principles, not a binding treaty, but it inspired many constitutions, including the Fundamental Rights of India.

KEY POINT

For the board examination, only the meaning of the UDHR is required.

REAL LIFE

UNICEF's work on immunisation and school meals, and WHO's certification of India as polio-free in 2014, are examples of UN agencies at work.

FUN FACT

The five permanent members of the Security Council were the main victors of the Second World War, and all five are nuclear-weapon states.

HOT QUESTION

The veto power of the permanent members is often criticised. Do you think it helps or harms the UN's work?

League of Nations vs United Nations

	LEAGUE OF NATIONS	UNITED NATIONS
Year	1920	1945
Headquarters	Geneva	New York
Membership	Never included the USA	Almost every country
Power	No armed force; decisions needed unanimity	Security Council can act and send peacekeepers
End	Faded away; dissolved 1946	Continues

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: UN = peace + cooperation + rights

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Set-up	1945; San Francisco Charter; HQ New York; 193 members
General Assembly	All members; one vote each; budget; elects non-permanent members
Security Council	5 permanent with veto + 10 non-permanent (2 years)
ICJ	The Hague; 15 judges; 9 years; disputes of states; advisory opinions
Agencies	UNICEF (New York), WHO (Geneva), UNESCO (Paris)
UDHR	1948; Human Rights Day 10 December; meaning only

Practice Questions

1. State any two objectives of the United Nations.

Ans.

To maintain international peace and security, and to promote cooperation in solving economic, social and humanitarian problems.

2. When and where was the UN established?

Ans.

The Charter was signed at San Francisco in June 1945 and the UN came into being on 24 October 1945.

3. Describe the composition of the General Assembly.

Ans.

It includes all member states, each with one vote.

4. State two functions of the General Assembly.

Ans.

It discusses international issues and approves the UN budget; it also elects the non-permanent members of the Security Council.

5. Name the permanent members of the Security Council.

Ans.

USA, UK, France, Russia and China.

6. What is veto power?

Ans.

The right of a permanent member to block any substantive decision of the Security Council by voting against it.

7. What are the functions of the ICJ?

Ans.

To settle legal disputes between states and to give advisory opinions on legal questions.

8. Where is the ICJ located and how many judges does it have?

Ans.

At The Hague; it has 15 judges.

9. Give the headquarters and functions of WHO.

Ans.

Geneva; it directs international health work and fights disease.

10. What is the Universal Declaration of Human Rights?

Ans.

A document adopted by the General Assembly in 1948 that lists the basic rights to which all human beings are entitled.

CHAPTER · HISTORY & CIVICS

The Non-Aligned Movement

In a world split between two superpowers, some young nations chose a third way. This chapter covers what non-alignment means, why India led it and what Panchsheel stands for.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Meaning
- Objectives
- Architects
- Panchsheel
- Role of Nehru

Meaning of Non-Alignment

During the Cold War, countries were pressed to join either the American or the Soviet bloc. The Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) was a group of nations that chose not to join any military bloc and followed an independent foreign policy, judging each issue on its merits. It does not mean neutrality or staying out of world affairs. Members actively worked for peace.

Objectives

- To protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of member states.
- To oppose colonialism, imperialism, racism and apartheid.
- To work for world peace, disarmament and peaceful settlement of disputes, and to keep the Cold War away from member states.
- To promote economic development and cooperation among developing countries and a fairer world economic order.
- To strengthen the UN and make it more democratic.

Architects of NAM

LEADER	COUNTRY
Jawaharlal Nehru	India
Josip Broz Tito	Yugoslavia
Gamal Abdel Nasser	Egypt
Sukarno	Indonesia
Kwame Nkrumah	Ghana

The first NAM Summit was held at Belgrade in September 1961 with 25 members. The movement grew out of the Bandung Conference (1955) of Asian and African countries. Today it has over 120 members.

Panchsheel

Panchsheel means 'five principles' (from Sanskrit pancha and sheel). It was first set out in the India-China agreement on Tibet in April 1954, linked with Nehru and Zhou Enlai. It became a code for the relations of free nations.

1. Mutual respect
For each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty.

2. Mutual non-aggression
Neither side will attack the other.

3. Non-interference
In each other's internal affairs.

4. Equality and mutual benefit
All nations, big or small, are equal partners.

5. Peaceful coexistence
Living together in peace despite different systems.

KEY POINT
For the examination the meaning of Panchsheel is tested; the principles are for understanding.

Role of Jawaharlal Nehru

- He explained that India wanted peace and would not take sides, as it had to focus on its own development after independence.
- He was a leading voice of Asia and Africa against colonialism and racism.
- He promoted Panchsheel and took part in the Bandung Conference (1955) to advance peaceful coexistence.
- He took part in the first NAM Summit at Belgrade (1961) and made NAM an important voice in world affairs.
- He helped ease international crises, for example by India's role in the Korean War prisoners' repatriation (1953).

SIDEKICK TIP
A good one-line answer: 'Nehru gave NAM its ideas, its principle (Panchsheel) and its partners (Tito, Nasser, Sukarno, Nkrumah).'

BOARD ALERT
Non-alignment is not isolationism or neutrality. Members still took positions on questions, such as supporting liberation movements in Africa.

REAL LIFE
NAM members worked together against apartheid in South Africa and for the independence of Namibia.

FUN FACT
The Bandung Conference of 1955 was held in Indonesia and brought together 29 Asian and African countries, most of them recently freed from colonial rule.

HOT QUESTION
Is non-alignment still relevant after the end of the Cold War? Support your answer.

Timeline

YEAR	EVENT
1954	Panchsheel agreement (India and China)
1955	Bandung Conference
1961	Belgrade Summit: NAM is formally founded

Mind Map Recap

KEY POINT

Centre of the map: NAM = independence in the Cold War

BRANCH	REMEMBER THIS
Meaning	Not joining any bloc; independent decisions
Objectives	Sovereignty; anti-colonialism and anti-racism; peace; development
Architects	Nehru, Tito, Nasser, Sukarno, Nkrumah
Panchsheel	1954; five principles of coexistence
Nehru	Champion; Bandung 1955; Belgrade 1961

Practice Questions

1. What is meant by the Non-Aligned Movement?

Ans.

A movement of countries that chose not to join either power bloc in the Cold War and followed an independent foreign policy.

2. State two objectives of NAM.

Ans.

To protect the independence of member nations and to oppose colonialism and racism.

3. Name any three architects of NAM.

Ans.

Jawaharlal Nehru, Josip Broz Tito and Gamal Abdel Nasser.

4. What is Panchsheel?

Ans.

The five principles of peaceful coexistence, set out in the India-China agreement of 1954.

5. State two principles of Panchsheel.

Ans.

Mutual respect for territorial integrity and sovereignty; non-interference in each other's internal affairs.

6. Where was the first NAM Summit held?

Ans.

At Belgrade, in 1961.

7. What role did Nehru play in NAM?

Ans.

He was one of its founders, stressed peaceful coexistence and anti-colonialism, and gave India a leading voice in the movement.

8. Why did India choose non-alignment?

Ans.

To keep independence in decision-making and to focus on its own development without being dragged into the Cold War.

9. Is non-alignment the same as neutrality? Explain.

Ans.

No. A neutral country stays out of conflicts, while a non-aligned country takes active positions on international matters.

10. What is the connection between the Bandung Conference and NAM?

Ans.

Bandung (1955) brought Asian and African nations together on anti-colonial lines and paved the way for the founding of NAM.

Project and Assignment Guide

Twenty marks of the final result come from one project or assignment. Choose wisely, plan it, present it neatly and these marks are close to safe.

IN THIS CHAPTER

- Assignment ideas
- How the 20 marks work
- Grading skills
- Checklist

The Internal Assessment at a Glance

History and Civics has a two-hour paper for 80 marks and an Internal Assessment of 20 marks. You do any one project or assignment related to the syllabus. Two examiners assess it independently.

EXAMINER	MARKS
Subject teacher (Internal Examiner)	10
External Examiner, a teacher nominated by the Head of School who does not teach you History	10
Total sent to CISCE	20

Assignment Ideas from the Syllabus

- Compare the Parliamentary and Presidential forms of government in India and the USA.
- Conduct a mock court and record its proceedings.
- Life sketch and contributions of a President of India: Dr Rajendra Prasad, Dr S. Radhakrishnan or Dr A.P.J. Abdul Kalam (or any other).
- A book review of Naoroji's Poverty and Un-British Rule in India, Gandhi's The Story of My Experiments with Truth, Nehru's The Discovery of India, Bhagat Singh's Why I Am an Atheist, Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit's The Scope of Happiness or Kalam's Wings of Fire.
- A discussion on how a film helps in understanding 20th-century history, for example Gandhi, Sardar, Schindler's List, The Book Thief, Escape to Victory, The Boy in the Striped Pyjamas, Life Is Beautiful, The Sound of Music or Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose: The Forgotten Hero.
- An illustrated study of the life and work of Subhas Chandra Bose.
- An illustrated study of any three national leaders between 1857 and 1914 and their contributions.
- The work and achievements of a Nobel laureate: Malala Yousafzai or Kailash Satyarthi.
- The influence of Gandhian principles on Martin Luther King or Nelson Mandela.
- A report on one UN agency: UNESCO, WHO, UNICEF, ILO, UNDP or FAO.
- A case study of a recent human rights violation and the redressal mechanisms available.

How the Examiners Grade (I to V)

SKILL	WHAT A TOP GRADE LOOKS LIKE
Preparation and research	You follow instructions and keep orderly reference notes
Information	A good deal of relevant matter from a wide range of sources
Concepts	Good grasp of cause and consequence, sequence, continuity and change
Thinking skills	Empathy, different interpretations of evidence, your own conclusions
Presentation	Clear, coherent, in sections, neat and not over-decorated

SIDEKICK TIP

The marks reward thinking, not decoration. A tidy project with a clear conclusion beats a colourful one with copied text.

A Four-Week Plan

1. Week 1: Choose and plan
Pick a topic you like and can find sources for. List five questions your project will answer.

2. Week 2: Research
Use at least three kinds of sources (books, newspapers, museums, interviews, websites). Note them down as you go.

3. Week 3: Write
Use headings and short paragraphs; add maps, timelines or pictures with captions.

4. Week 4: Conclude and check
Write your own conclusion. Check dates and names. Add a bibliography. Practise explaining it aloud.

BOARD ALERT

Do not copy and paste from the internet or a textbook. Copied work earns the lowest grade.

REAL LIFE

For a mock court, assign roles (judge, lawyers, witnesses, clerk), write a short script based on a real case summary and record the proceedings in a neat report.

Checklist Before You Submit

- Title page with name, class and topic.
- Contents and headings.
- Introduction, main body, conclusion.
- Your own words and your own opinion.
- Pictures, charts and maps labelled.
- List of sources (a bibliography).
- Neat, legible and not over-decorated.

Done reading? Now go break the board.
